INTERURBAN MARKS A NEW ERA FOR "PEERLESS CITY"

REGULAR SCHEDULE TO START TUESDAY; FIRST CARS ARE RUN TODAY FOR FORMAL OPENING

The first cars will be run over the Ohio Valley Traction line between Wheelersburg and Portsmouth this afternoon at four o'clock, and will be occupied by the members of the Business Men's Association and the Board of Trade, who will formally open the new line. The regular schedule will start Tuesday morning, when an hourly service will be given.

The work of finishing the line to Ironton is being pushed rapidly.

Peerless—Progressive Portsmouth writes its era of most flattering and substantial growth along the years of the life of the company now operating its street railway system—The Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company. It is these men who, a dozen years past, have manned the local lines in a way to deserve the pride of their fellow citizens, and to compel the intense admiration of the stranger within the city's gates.

These same home people have, with forward look, planned and are carrying into completion Portsmouth's first traction line. Within a very few weeks cars will be running to the neighboring city of Ironton, and this success will doubtless be the forerunner of a net work of tractions that will place the Peerless City in its destined position as the metropolis of the entire tri-state country.

The link already completed to Wheelersburg, with fine roadbed, latest modern cars, skilfully operated, and its meaning to the industrial district of the eastern portion of the city, is but an earnest of what may be expected when this line is entirely completed.

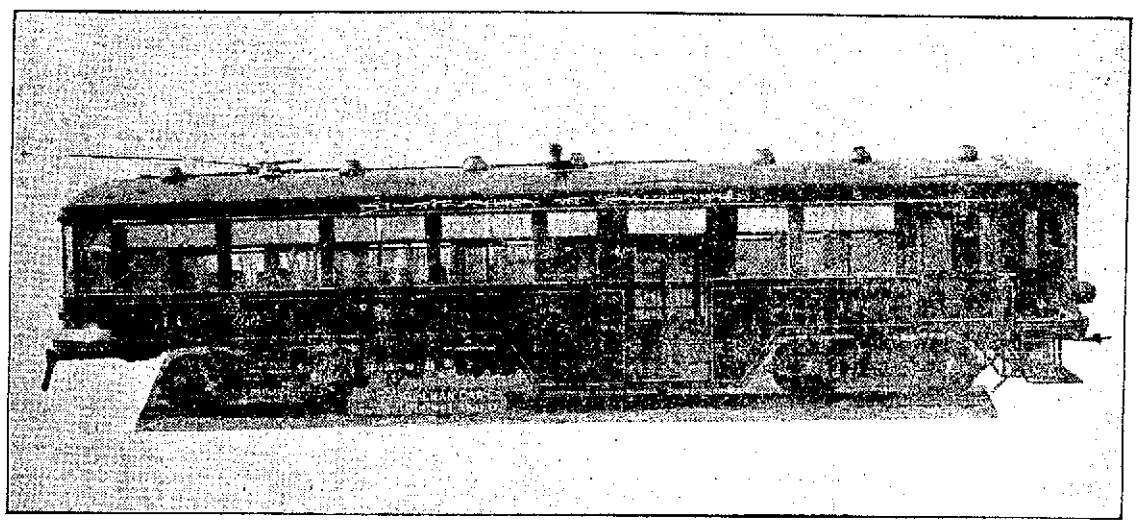

It should be most gratifying to realize that Portsmouth brains, Portsmouth capital and Portsmouth's proverbial co-operation and enthusiasm have made this enterprise possible. Too often with cities like private corporations, new innovations mean the presence of an outside stimulus, generally of an artificial and ephemeral character. Not so in this case, because this crowning achievement is but a logical culmination of efforts upon the part of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company, to add, year by year, newer and greater advantages to its home city.

Upon an occasion like the present it is interesting to trace the story of local street railway enterprises. A new generation has since come upon the scene, which has no recollection of the old time horse cars that pioneered street railways in Portsmouth and other cities.

This generation will realize that such style of locomotion was very slow, and comparatively costly, the capital must have been hired to obtain in order to operate so far as a horse car system. While the inhabitants then no doubt looked with just the same pride upon their new cars, yet the returns must have been meager and the incentive to wider extensions lacking in any, except the larger cities. It was surprising to the compiler of this article to find so little data preserved concerning Portsmouth's horse cars in the several histories and industrial sketches heretofore written in Portsmouth.

It was hoped to present in chronological order in this article the development year by

WILSON TO CALL HALT ON MAIL SEIZURES

Washington, D. C., May 22.—The new note to Great Britain, making further protest against interference with American mails was laid before President Wilson today and probably will be sent to London tomorrow. The general terms of the note were framed at the state department, but the president is including some of his own language.

The note is understood to protest particularly against the British practice of taking vessels into British ports and there examining and detaining mail going to and from the United States. The American note will make plain that the United States cannot consent to the continuance of the policy to which it already has objected.

They took twenty-five cannon and eight machine guns, the statement says.

BATTLE OF VERDUN ENTERS FOURTH MONTH WITH DEAD MAN HILL AS THE KEY

Paris, May 22.—The battle of Verdun, the longest and most bitterly contested individual struggle of the war, enters on its fourth month today. The Germans, with characteristic patience and stubbornness, are hammering at Dead Man Hill where the most furious and bloody fighting of the three month's conflict has taken place. Clinging desperately to the trenches that they have wrested from the French on the lower slope of the hill, the Teutons hurled 60,000 men, backed by sixty batteries of guns of all calibres, forward along a seven mile front from Avocourt to the Meuse in a desperate effort to seize the coveted summit. As has been usual in this war, when either side launches a well prepared and strongly delivered offensive, the attacking forces have won initial advantages. The Germans have succeeded in gaining a footing in the French first line at a cost of severe losses. However, judging from the experience of the past, it will not be a difficult task for the French to dislodge them before they are able to follow up their advantage. Both sides then will then return to their former positions to await another offensive.

That the Germans must continue their tremendous onslaught of Dead Man Hill or abandon the idea of taking Verdun seems obvious.

This blood soaked summit and its sister eminence, Hill Number 304, form the key of the whole system of Verdun's defenses. The fire from their batteries flanks the Douaumont Plateau across the river. Without the undisputed possession of this plateau, military critics agree that no attack on Verdun has any chance of success.

year in this city, but prior to the organization of the present company, no complete records were preserved.

Files of local newspapers disclose that as far back as December 20, 1884 the Portsmouth Electric Light Company petitioned for a grant by council of a lighting franchise but it was not until late in 1893 that work was started upon the first electric railroad. In the meantime horse cars had been operating for several years and by the same authority it is stated that the last horse car was run in Portsmouth on July 21, 1891.

Following this date there was an interval of several months in which no cars of any kind were run, but following the completion of the electric system in 1893 the city's first four electric cars passed proudly up the streets. Some idea of their size may be obtained when it is noted that car No. 50 still in use and popularly known as the "Airship" was built by splicing two of these cars together.

These cars had a seating capacity of 24 persons and operated upon a 15-minute schedule. The electric line was then operating from the West End to what is now New Boston, although in the early nineties but little of that town had been built. County fairs and races were held on what now comprises all the west end of New Boston and a dancing pavilion known as Grandview Park, on the hillside above the Corley switch added to the revenues during the summer months. This was dismantled after the present company laid out Millbrook Park.

Back in the old horse car days the city had its line financed for several years by foreign capital. On March 20, 1899, a syndicate composed of George B. Chase, Warsaw, N. Y., G. F. Millen, Fall River, Mass. and A. B. Wilson of Ironton, bought the system. It was then a line extending from the top of the public landing on West Front street at the Gayler Hotel running out Market street to Second, out second to Chillicothe, Chillicothe to Ninth, out Ninth to Offnere and north on Offnere to the cemetery gate. Various old time capitalists held small portions of stock at intervals while this syndicate was in control. The horse car barns were first on West Second street, on the present site of the Portsmouth Hat Company. This company moved later to Tenth and Offnere streets on the site of the present office. At different times spurs were run on West Sixth street and out Waller street from Ninth but were not used long.

The first franchise for an electric line was granted by council on September 24, 1892 to the late John F. Brushart. In the month of April previous to this he was in a local company consisting of George Davis, Floyd L. Smith, Jas. Skelton and Sam B. Timmonds and Mr. Brushart, capitalized at $50,000 to take over the street railway. Messrs. Timmonds and Smith at intervals managed the business until 1899 when Levi D. York became active in the company's affairs. Later Sam P. Baird was general manager and in 1904 the present office personnel started their careers. Since then the company has been officered by Levi D. York, president, Raymond D. York, vice president and general manager, and Hugh H. Higgins, secretary and treasurer.

Prior to this time other local citizens were or less interested in the company including the late H. S. Grimes, Judge A. T. Holcomb, Wm. B. Large, Capt. Adam Back and several others whose connection was more brief.

Levi D. York's first connection with street railway matters was in 1896 when he succeeded George Davis, father of former County Treasurer George L. Davis, who had just died. Mr. York served as president then for an interval and other changes were claiming his time and he did not return to the board until the late nineties. In 1899 at the annual meeting, his son Raymond D. York, was first made director. Mr. Higgins had been employed in a clerical capacity by the old company, in his youth as far back as 1895. He returned to the company's service when Mr. York became practically sole owner in 1904, and with the singular ability of Raymond D. York in matters of construction detail and of Mr. Higgins as office man and traffic manager, President York created an office family which he has never had occasion or desire to change in the last dozen years.

Council had granted its first franchise, as stated, to John F. Brushart, August 22, 1892. The late Judge A. C. Thompson was employed to assist the city solicitor in properly framing the measure. It is interesting to relate that long distance phones now in such common use did not reach Portsmouth until 1897.

Following this grant, the electric railroad people bought the site of the present power station on Offnere street opposite its office. The firm of Lindsey and Wilgus of New York City got the contract of electrifying the system, then estimated at five miles. The original franchise carried the line as far as Greenlawn cemetery, the first extension being made up Eleventh street to Lawson, where this line had to be diverted south to Gallia, whence it proceeded eastward to New Boston. This ordinance was passed in 1893. In that year, a right to use the Gallia Pike had to be obtained from the county commissioners as the pike was outside the city. The board of commissioners was J. W. Smith, M. W. Brown and J. M. Stockham, the last two still being residents of this city. Filmore Musser was then county auditor.

Route No. 3, known as the Belt Line, was built after granting of the franchise by council April 8, 1906. This is the Third street and Hill Top lines. The Third street line was originally planned to end at Campbell avenue, it was then changed to run to Kendall avenue.

The original plan for the Hill Top line was to start at Seventeenth and High streets and run west to Waller and down Waller passing the N. & W. depot. It was continued down Seventeenth street to Findlay to its present terminus. Growth of the city and foresight of the company prompted a plan to connect up the two lines over the railroad tracks at Earlytown for a continuous belt line and this will be consummated when it can be reached by the company.

Another building operation of great expense but favored by the company in its zeal to constantly improve its service was double tracking Gallia pike to Norfolk street, sending the new line down Norfolk to Walnut, out Walnut into New Boston and returning by way of Gallia Pike, disposing of all former waits on turnouts and switches. In all this construction the officials have freely agreed to best of construction work, believing that the extra high cost will be beneficial to the public and company alike.

The Ironton extension has been described frequently as to its details, so that a brief summary will here suffice. Permission was granted by the public utilities commission for its financing on April 8, 1914. Bonds in the sum of $500,000 were sold and their sale together with all engineering work, assembling of labor and material has gone forward as speedily as possible. It is well for the public, which sometimes grows impatient with public enterprises, to realize that big propositions of this character are hedged about by numerous restrictions of governmental and local authority.

The Portsmouth to Ironton line has long been a cherished dream of President York. As far back as 1903 when the Scioto ville extension was opened—December 11, 1903 to be exact, he had hopes of seeing the project early consummated, but in the meantime country-wide depressions have ensued, so that it was only within the past three years that the active steps could be taken for the work.

Even at this interval good friends of President York have been skeptical as to its immediate financial success, but he is by nature an optimist. He has swung other large propositions in years gone by and while doubted in advance by some he has seen subsequent returns justify his keen foresight. At this time when the country is wonderfully prosperous hardly any one but will concede that his first traction venture is bound to be a winner.

The past dozen years of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company have been years of steady and uninterrupted progress. It has given largely of its substance in enterprises of public character. The year 1907 saw the log pavilion erected at Millbrook and elsewhere about the park improvements made for the health and pleasure of Portsmouth's army of wage earners.

In 1903 was built the large and modern power house and this afforded the city not only domestic light but power at most reasonable cost and after most up to date methods. Since 1893 this company and its predecessor has been lighting the streets, successively in 10, 5 and 10 year contracts. At a price of $47.50 per arc lamp Portsmouth is the best lighted city in the country, and nowhere at as cheap a cost per lamp. The present contract expires in 1919.

In 1904 the company put on its new double truck cars which have reduced delays to traffic to a minimum.

In 1905 Millbrook Casino was built. Since 1902 the famous River City Band has not missed a Sunday night concert at Millbrook Park during the summer.

The years 1906 and 1907 the company started its replacements of rails at heavy expense so that there is no place on the line but what has the heaviest standard steel rails.

In 1908 the costly "Y" concrete bridges were built.

In 1909 the Ohio State League ball team started its local career in one of the finest minor league plants in the country, with costly grand stand, club house and especially constructed diamond and playing field.

The years 1910 and 1911 saw purchases of large additions to the rolling stock.

In 1912 and 1913 these betterments were continued, including building of the new office building and waiting station.

In 1914, with the foresight that now promises speedy fruition, Mr. York purchased the suburban real estate now known as Avalon, with its 536 lots for prospective homes to the city's army of wage earners. It is at the present terminus of the Wheelersburg line.

In the year 1915 at the behest of local commercial bodies, the company, at its own expense, placed rails upon the fine new Scioto river bridge here, presaging the future extensions to Portsmouth's growing West Side.

In the present eventful year of 1916 the Ironton extension will be completed. The traction cars are already here and are the latest word of traction car building. The eight bridges, the overhead trolley, the road-bed and all details of operation are being worked out in the most modern methods.

Surrounding the officers of the company are nearly two hundred loyal and progressive employees, many of whom have been in its employ since their youth, and to them the company acknowledges its obligation for their contribution to its success.

Visitors to the city frequently remark upon the splendid appearance of the motormen and conductors manning Portsmouth's street cars, saying they are far above the average of men in this class of service in other cities of the country. They are a part of Portsmouth's fine community of wage earners, and in no business organization will be found better mechanics or more loyal employees than are found among the operatives of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Company.

GRIP AND NEURASTHENIA

There is a form of neurasthenia that follows the grip. Doctors call it "post-grippal" neurasthenia. One of the foremost medical authorities of New York city in a lecture in the international clinics, said:

"Broadly speaking, every victim of the grip will suffer from post-grippal neurasthenia also. Lowering of nervous tone with increased irritability is the most striking effect of the disease, languor of mind and body, disturbed, fitful sleep and vague pains in the head and elsewhere. The treatment calls for rest and a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a non-alcoholic tonic, are particularly suited for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves after an attack of the grip. The rich, red blood expels the lingering germs from the system and transforms despondent grip victims into cheerful, healthy, happy men and women.

If you have had the grip get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, from the nearest drug store and begin the treatment at once.

On request we will send you a free pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," which contains a chapter on the grip. Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

60,000 ACRES OF LAND BEING DEVELOPED BY MEAT PRODUCING COMPANY; THE LARGEST IN SOUTHERN STATES

(The Florida Metropolis of Jacksonville, Fla., in the April 30th issue, devotes an entire page with numerous illustrations to a huge cattle and hog ranch in which many Ohioians are interested.)

Jacksonville and Florida have just awakened to the fact that one of the largest enterprises in the entire South is near Jacksonville and yet so little noise has been made about it that tremendous developments have been wrought before the public became aware of what was being done.

You can say 60,000 acres in a few words, but a Metropolis representative found that it took many, many hours to inspect a small part of 60,000 acres and if Floridians could realize what has been done by men who work and not talk, the cattle and hog raising industry would receive an impetus that would place Florida in the front rank of beef and pork producing states.

The Southern Cattle Feeding Company's property is located at Green Cove Springs in Clay county, thirty miles below Jacksonville on the St. Johns river, and consists of 60,000 acres of beautiful well watered and well drained land, accessible to railroad and river transportation.

The Southern Cattle Feeding Company with a capital of $1,500,00 was organized so quietly that its organization was scarcely known outside of the men who are in it in Florida, but in December the wheels began to move and by early in January three hundred men under the supervision of experts and with modern implements started to work.

Divided Into Units

The 60,000 acre cattle and hog ranch is divided into units with a large acreage of pasturage and a large acreage of cleared land attached to each unit. The big ranch is conducted like a manufacturing institution. Before the land was cleared surveyors plotted the fences, showing the stumps and other debris to be removed, and these plots were numbered, so that each day could be checked the progress of the work, and when this plotting had been completed hundreds of laborers began moving the stumps and as the stumps came out and the land was in condition the plow another crew of laborers manning caterpillar tractor plows that cut eight furrows at a time followed with the result that this year on the big ranch there will be 2,000 acres of corn and beans, 1000 acres of Japanese cane and other forage crops for the cattle.

While the crews of men were removing stumps and others were plowing and others were planting, another crew was stringing miles and miles of wire fences and the manner in which this fencing has been done would jar a man who has been accustomed to the slip-shod methods that once prevailed in Agriculture. The posts, that came from the timber that was on the land, are sawed of uniform size and the wire strung at definite distances so that the fence is not only the protection that was required but is a thing of beauty.

The planting operation would awaken the admiration of anyone who loves efficiency, and time-saving labor. A big agricultural manufacturing concern furnished this ranch with planting machine that plants the corn, velvet beans and fertilizer at one operation, at one time going over a 500 acre field and the machines followed by the supply wagons. The picture was not unlike that depicted by the correspondent in Europe. Machines that seemed to commune with mother earth were dropping the seed and the ammunition wagons were constantly following that a moment would not be lost while the planting season was on.

Doing Things in a Big Way

As you approach unit 1, which is just outside the little town of Green Cove Springs, you are struck by the beautiful bungalow cottages that have been erected by the ranch company for the workmen and an inspection of these cottages reveals that a real regard for the comfort of the workmen has been exercised and the use of paint and a knowledge of architecture has made it possible to build a home in the country that is beautiful and practical. There are twenty of these cottages on this unit.

On each unit is a superintendent and he in turn has enough foremen and laborers to provide for the clearing, plowing and planting of the crops and the care of the cattle and hogs upon his unit.

The operation of the caterpillar tractor plows has been a source of curiosity to farmers who have been accustomed to the plowing of two acres and regarding this as a good day's work. The caterpillar tractor plows on the Southern Cattle Feeding Company's ranch are in operation day and night, the night work being made possible by Rayo light lamps attached to the tractor. The chug-chug of the engine never stops because when the day crew is through the night crew takes charges.

While the company has fifty head of mules that are used in operating and finishing the land, yet the great part of the plowing is done with the tractor and in explanation of the necessity for running at night, it was stated that the land could be prepared and the crops planted to the best advantage and thus gain all the advantages of an early season.

The Men Behind the Guns

The officers of the Southern Cattle Feeding Company are: S. E. Strode, who for two terms was Dairy and Food Commissioner of Ohio, and who all his life has been identified with the cattle and hog industry of the North; R. L. Dowling, president of the Clay County Bank, and the Dowling & Shands Lumber Company, and T. W. Shands. Since the company was organized Mr. Strode moved his family to Green Cove Springs and has actively been identified with the development of the ranch.

Mr. Strode said to a Metropolitan representative:

"As a representative of The R. L. Dollings Company, of Ohio, which has financed the Southern Cattle Feeding Company, I made a thorough investigation of the opportunity in Florida for cattle and hog raising and I venture to predict that within a few years the cattle and hog industry in Florida will exceed in dollars and cents many times over the fruits and vegetables shipped out of this state.

"The conditions are ideal, and really the raising of cattle and hogs is nothing new except that we are doing it in a modern way. Some of the richest men in Florida have made their money raising cattle on the range and in the most primitive manner. The cattle were ranged all winter without any feed and in the spring the owner would round up his cattle and estimate his profits by the number that lived through the winter. The range method afforded no opportunity for improving the grades or giving the a attention that should be given for economical production.

"I have investigated closely, because I have been in it all my life, the cattle and hog industry in many places, and there is no place which I have found where crops can be produced to better advantage and at less cost than in Florida. We can grow from forty to sixty bushels of corn to the acre and velvet beans is a most prolific crop and an ideal food for the cattle and hogs. Not only do these crops produce the food necessary to carry cattle through the winter, but right sort of crops, such as velvet beans, enrich the soil.

Steer Does Own Harvesting

"Agriculture was probably the last industry to adopt modern methods which are based on cost of production and a real knowledge of what is being done. The day has gone by in agriculture when men guess instead of knowing. The man who is making a profit out of farming today is just as much interested in knowing that the seed that he plants is right as having the ground in good condition.

"In most places it is necessary to harvest the crops at great expense, feed the cattle at considerable expense and if any regard is to be had for the future, return the manure to the land. On our ranch cattle are ranged for eight or nine months in the year because the grass will provide ample nourishment and the streams that are found all over the ranch cure for the problem of good water and this, I may say, is very important.

"During the winter season the cattle are driven into the units where corn and beans and other forage crops have been planted and they do their own harvesting, enrich the soil without further cost.

"Not only does this method make the cost of production low, but it enables us to grade up the cattle and hogs very rapidly.

"Winters in Florida, while so mild that frosts are little known, do affect the grass to extent that feeding is economy. There is no economy in putting on three hundred pounds of fat with good corn and losing it through not paying any attention to the steer.

Grading up the Cattle.

"It has been demonstrated beyond doubt, in fact it has been done in a number of places very near our ranch, that one crossing of high-grade stock with native cattle and hogs will produce a result entirely satisfactory giving size and quality that would be acceptable to any stock raiser.

"The tick problem has been solved wherever attention has been given to it, but this cannot be done where ranches are not fenced and the cattle dipped. The elimination of the tick is really not a serious matter nor an expensive one, and I venture to predict that this problem will be solved very quickly in Florida because it will come with fencing and dipping.

"On the Southern Cattle Feeding company's property will soon be constructed large dipping vats and by paying attention to the cattle on each unit we will soon have free from ticks a large area of the ranch and eventually all of it."

No Land to Sell.

While Mr. Strode was very enthusiastic about Florida and about the work that had been done under his direction on the Southern Cattle Feeding company property, he was very emphatic in reference to the injury that has been done by the flotation of small farms. He said:

"I believe the greatest injury that has been done Florida has been in the sale of small farms with inducements held out to purchasers that they can make a livelihood from growing vegetables and citrous fruits and I trust that the bankers and authorities in the state will not encourage men to go into the cattle and hog business who have not sufficient means. It requires a great amount of money. It would be hard for the farmer in Ohio, where we are accustomed to farms of one hundred and two hundred acres, to appreciate the extent of 60,000 acres and yet it requires a large area to do the things in a big way that will produce big profits. The time will come, of course, when the roads in Florida are developed and when schools and churches are built in the country, that the land will be cut up into smaller farms, but the cattle and hog business must be carried on in a big way and this requires large capital.

Farm Labor in Florida.

"It is difficult for the agricultural interest of Florida to recognize the great benefit it holds over other sections in labor condition. In the north are farms that have practically been abandoned for close cultivation because farm labor cannot be had at any price under some conditions. In the north the tendency is for the young man to go to the city and it is very difficult to get men who will actually do the work on a farm and work is a necessary element of success.

"On the Southern Cattle Feeding company ranch we have about three hundred men and I believe it would be a very difficult problem to secure three hundred good farm laborers in half the state of Ohio.

Mr. Strode's Prediction.

"Florida will be one of the greatest cattle and hog states in the Union. We have had some of the best experts in the country over our land and they are very enthusiastic. In Ohio cattle and hogs are raised profitably on land that sells from $125 to $175 an acre and in some instances higher than this and yet the same thing can be done at much less cost on land in Florida that costs less than one-tenth of what Ohio land sells for.

"It does not require very much of a mathmatician to get the results that will come from the raising of cattle and hogs here. In Florida the development of the industry cannot be overestimated. Beef and pork are staples and the demand is growing every day and prices advancing. One of the big problems today is to produce enough beef and pork for the cities. When all of the Congressional investigations are completed it will be found that the price is governed by the supply and demand and that the supply is short.

"I could talk to you all day of the advantages of cattle and hog raising in Florida, and it is no strange that Floridians do not realize this because they have never encountered the hard winters of the north, where work practically stops for several months of the year. A man must have lived in both places to have a full realization of our opportunity."

There are few better known men in this part of Florida than R. L. Dowling and T. W. Shands. Both are self-made, successful men. Mr. Shands devotes his entire time to the Southern Cattle Feeding company interests and Mr. Dowling much of his time.

Mr. Dowling said that he was delighted with the manner in which the enterprise had been handled by the northern interests because the policy had been to do a thing and let it talk for itself."

QUESTIONS OF COSTS

(Special to The Metropolis.)

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 27.—The Metropolis representative found R. H. Dollings not inclined to talk about the Southern Cattle Feeding company, and referred the representative to S. E. Strode, for details and information as to the operation of the ranch. Mr. Dollings said:

"We investigated this proposition the same as we would another enterprise. There is no sentiment so far as we are concerned. Our investigators reported that cattle and hogs could be raised cheaper than in any part of the country. It is purely a question of cost with us. We trent the enterprise just the same as we do a paving brick plant. We locate a brick plant where there is good shale, good shipping facilities and a labor supply of quantity. I believe that Florida will undergo a tremendous development in this line, and that millions of dollars in Northern capital will go into cattle and hog raising in this state. Our New York representative has just advised me that one of the concerns in New York that is very largely interested in public service corporations has become interested in the cattle and hog industry in Florida, and has just bought 15,000 head of cattle for a ranch in that state."

THE MAN AT THE HEAD!

The business interests are making much ado, today, over the opening of the Portsmouth-Ironton traction line, to the attractive village of Wheelersburg. The inauguration of this enterprise marks a distinct period in the trade and development of the city, the near consummation of an undertaking that is going to spell large in the development of a territory thirty miles in length and more than five in width. As the service is to be for both passenger and freight it will offer transportation and carriage to city and market, every day in the week and all the year around, the lack of which heretofore has been felt as a serious retardment.

We are quite sure that the man, who solitary and alone, by his means and unflagging energy, has worked this achievement, will come in for the heartiest congratulations from all. And there will be none in good faith to deny he has richly earned unstinted felicitation. We admire Levi D. York as a progressive citizen and we like his manners as a man. He does big things in the right way. He has long given Portsmouth the best street car system of any city of its size and in such signal regard for the interests and feelings of the public has it been conducted that nowhere else has a common utility such good will on the part of the public. To every movement that had for its object the growth and improvement of the city, Mr. York has given unqualified encouragement, and what is of more consequence, the most liberal aid, and now as it were, he climaxes his service to her by giving her the first traction line, which is destined to play a most conspicuous part in forwarding her metropolitan expansion. And upon all this the likeable, the admirable quality of the individual that he assumes nothing, asserts no claims and makes no demands upon the general affairs of the community. The last thing any acquaintance would, accuse him of would be lack of courage, or wavering of conviction, to say he is unready to meet his enemies or forget his friends, yet he has never offensively intruded his own views upon the community, or sought to regulate the general conduct according to his own ideas. He steadfastly holds to his rights and unreservedly concedes the other man his and the privilege of difference.

Success to his enterprise and long, golden days to him as he travels down the sunset of life.

THEN WHY NOT?

The Times has advanced few things that have met with such popular endersement as the restriction of street fairs. Not a single person, so far, has expressed disapprobation, but scores and scores have heartily commended the paper for putting up the proposition to council, with the demand that undertakings, which have been allowed to become something of a nuisance, be strictly regulated to the improvement in general character and lessening in number. It will be a surprise to others, as it was to us, to have from even country people warm approval.

Thus having seemingly everybody in favor in limiting the visitations of these shows, there is no good reason apparent why council should not take the matter in hand at once and act upon it. All that can be said of the street fair is that it brings a few dollars into the coffers of some lodge or other, but, we are quite sure even the members of these, or the few that according to common rule are active in their affairs, will offer no serious objection, if giving a little consideration to the subject. They can find food for this in the police court reports during the periods of these alleged carnivals, which show they are that at least in the gathering and misconduct of the rough and the dissolute.

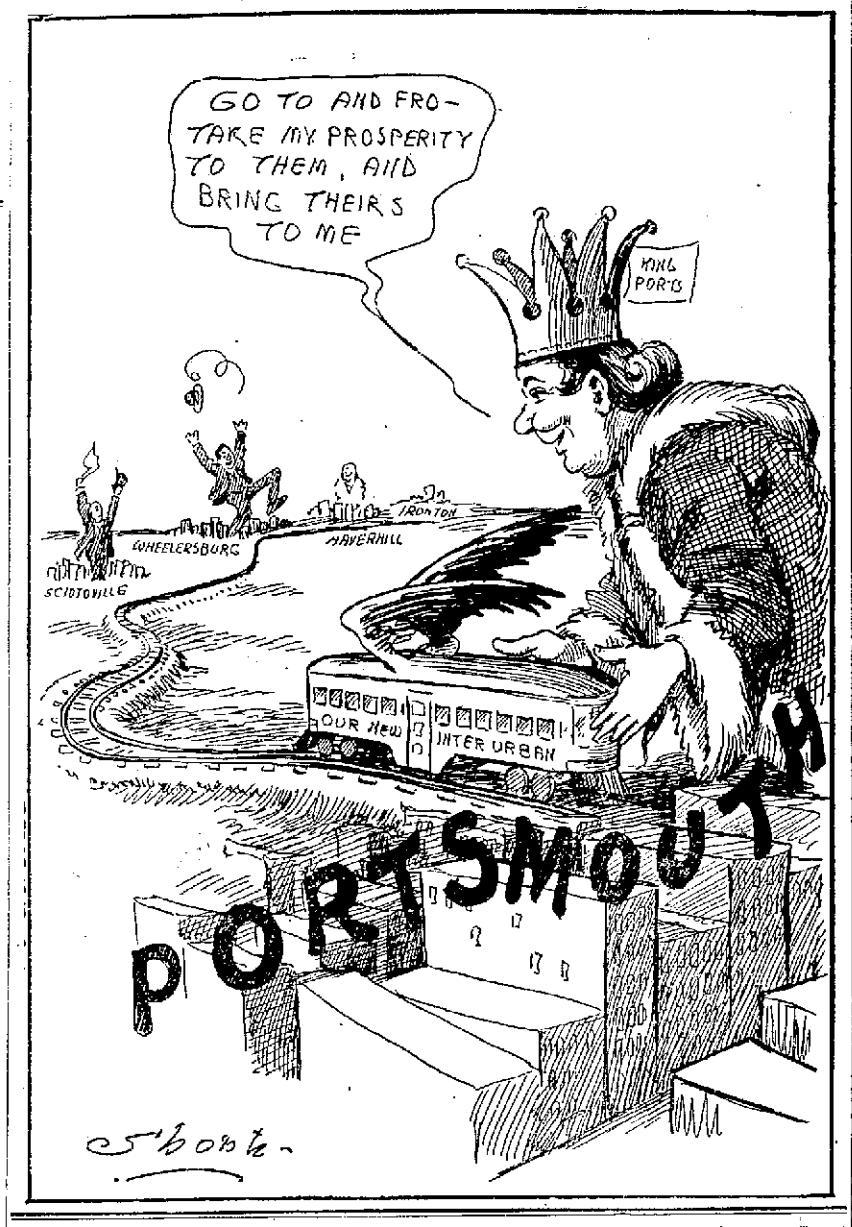

Senator Stone advises this is the time for every man to hold his head, but since so many people have no heads, as it views them, the Houston Post supplements this with the injunction that every one do the next best thing and hold his tongue.

WORTH THE TRYING ANYWAY

Virginia has given West Virginia due and formal legal notice that on the 5th day of June of the present year, she will move in the supreme court for the issuance of a writ of execution so she may be able to collect the twelve million dollar judgment, which stands to her favor and against the latter on the records of the court.

Lawyers are puzzled how the execution is to run and figuring that maybe levy will be made upon the capitol building and state lands. May be this is a legal possibility, though much doubted, so we suggest that the best way out of the dilemma is for the court to appoint a receiver to conserve the income and resources of the debtor commonwealth. This would be a good thing all around, since it would enable the creditor to get his money, the state would not have the stigma of repudiating an honest debt and we might get a hint as to the right wrinkle in running a state. West Virginia if we may believe all the Democratic press thereof and half of the Republican, which makes a preponderance of the evidence, is making a disgusting and disastrous mess of running herself, taxes are going up and state paper down and the prospects are, unless some radical reversal follows, there will be other judgments heaped upon the twelve million one. A receiver might introduce both retrenchment and economy in operation, at least it would not seem necessary for him to keep at Charleston a constantly buzzing bevy of satellites and parasites, with no employment, except to "plug" for the administration; he could operate the commonwealth upon a purely business basis and treat her to the refreshing novelty of seeing public officials, who had a motion as though they had to do some work, before drawing their salaries, officials chosen for fitness and capability and not in recognition of party obligation. It is a situation we would rejoice to have the commonwealth come to just for the trial of the experiment.

A HARBINGER OF PROSPER ITY

Sir Edward Carson, who awhile back was not only preaching, but organizing revolution for Ulster, is now the busiest and loudest voice in the United Kingdom denouncing the Dublin rebels. And, to think, one step further and Sir Edward, instead of James Pearce, would have been stood up against a wall and shot.

The French at Verdun are reported tired but undismayed. We have an idea the game is one in which one may well grow aweary.

Let's give Mr. Carranza credit for at least being something of a philosopher. He is said to be quite agreeable to the fact that the United States troops are going to remain in Mexico yet awhile.

Japanese are being killed in the Chinese rebellion. That man Hobson will avow this is but another ruse of the wily Jap to get a half excuse to chew up the flowery kingdom.

Uncle Joe Cannon says in this age of invention there should be discovered an elixir of youth and so far as he is concerned he wants somebody to hurry up and find it right away. Here a good many people will agree with Uncle Joe who never "hoped" with him before.

The West Virginia Republican papers are running daily solid pages of editorial rot and the fun is that it is all about, of and concerning factional fights.

Just because everybody else is saying it, let us say that the traction service is a big thing for the Peerless. And think how we can swell when we go abroad and talk about our interurban cars.

Let's see. Let's see about that and concerning a Big Noise and a Big Stick as well. Wasn't it during the period when a certain omniscient and vigorous "I" was president that $100,000 was paid for the ransom of an American woman from the Kurds, Armenians, Turks, or some vermin of the earth?

The impression lurks about that this fight against the confirmation of Louis Brandeis as supreme judge would lack its piquancy, if he were not a Jew, and had not often so ably set his talents to the confusion of "the interests."

We do hope Senator Smoot won't pass through this garden spot of the world enroute from Washington, D. England, Germany and France are said to want peace and to be sure they do. But the trouble is each nation wants it on its own terms.

Willy Wood-Rat

Back a little from the creek where Mr. Gater lived and spent his days, and plainly to be seen from the tree where Miss Chameleon lived, was another pile that looked for all the world like a pile of rubbish. Neat and round it was, though—perhaps too tidy appearing for a rubbish pile!

But it wasn't a rubbish pile—dear me, no!

It was the home of Willy Wood-rat.

You don't know Willy Wood-rat? Then listen, and I'll introduce you to him.

Willy Wood-rat is the most beautiful and stylish member of the rat family, and a very pleasant creature to know. He wears a soft, silky brownish gray coat and a vest of pure white. He has dainty white mittens made of soft fur that he pulls over his four little feet—do you wonder that he has the reputation of being the dandy of the rat family?

You will be glad to know that Willy, with all his fine clothes, is also good and kind. Finery does not turn his head—not one bit! He is quite the kindest and gentlest of all the rat family, and that's more important than being well dressed, isn't it? They say that kindness makes one better looking, and surely they must be right. For Willy Wood-rat has none of that sly, mean look in his face that makes us so afraid of most members of the rat family. He has a nice, good, kind look that just fits with his manners and his pretty clothes.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask?

He lives in it.

But he wouldn't call it a rubbish pile, for it is his nest, and he and Mrs. Wood-rat work very hard to make it just as fine as ever a nest can be. It takes nights and nights of hard work to make that pile. Do you wonder they are proud of it when it is finished?

First they choose the place where the nest is to be. Then they begin collecting twigs and grasses enough to make a pile two or three feet high.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask? He lives in it

When all that is done, they shape the nest and lay every twig and bit of grass just so, for the Wood-rats are as particular about their nests as they are about their clothes.

Last of all, they line the nest with a soft, downy lining of feathers or the covering of weed seeds till it is as fine and soft as a bird's nest. And there they raise their little family.

You would never guess from the look of the outside that the inside of that rubbish was so soft and beautifully made! Don't you think Willy Wood-rat a nice little fellow to know? And some day you shall hear more about him.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY,
BY O.O.McINTYRE.

New York, May 22—At last some use has been found for a full growth of whiskers. Even when they are not parted in the middle. In the past the long beard or lace curtain style of whiskers have been regarded as the home and abiding place of germs, ticks and now and then a field mouse and also certain fauna indigenous to the land in which the owner of whiskers has his habitation.

But now another use has been discovered for the brush that surrounds the face of the care-free citizen who does not care what happens. Read on:

Isaac Goldman, of Bayonne, has a crop of foliage that reaches his waist when he unfurls them to the ozone. Business brought him to New York this last week. He was walking through Avenue C, when he encountered Frank Gallagher.

Gallagher later told his story to a police magistrate: "While I was walking my foot slipped or something; I don't know what. I stuck my hand out in the air to grasp at anything and my fingers closed on a bunch of whiskers. I found later they belonged to Goldman."

The magistrate, if he had a sense of humor, might have inquired: "Did Goldman yell 'Let 'er go Gallagher?'" But he didn't. He fined Goldman ten lovely dollars.

The headwaiter at Joel's, who acts as a savings bank for strolling players, has been left a fortune by the death of an uncle. The latter was a captain in the Austrian army and is said to have bequeathed his nephew $50,000. He will continue to headwait, however, for he says he enjoys nothing so much as watching actors eat. He says a lot of them eat regularly just like other folk.

Flash Alley celebrities are constantly running into the people known as the "How do you do-ers?" They are the individuals who will call actors by their first names in passing to impress whoever might be with them when as a matter of fact they never met.

The polite celebrities of course respond to the salutation and pass on thinking the face and name has slipped their memory. The other day a man came up and slapped Harry Fox on the back. "Hi Harry," he said, "how's every little thing?"

Mr. Fox looked him over, didn't recognize him and said so. "Don't remember me?" said the stranger. "Why I'm the man who wrote you two years ago that I was the champion coffee cake dunkler of Teaneck, N. J."

And then he walked away—leaving Mr. Fox wondering just who it was that had been kidded.

Bide Dudley tells a story of preparedness on Harry Meyers, a theatre treasurer. Meyers went out with the boys the other night and didn't get home until noon the next day. His mother was much perturbed but Meyers was expecting this and had his alibi. After the scolding he took a bottle of olives from his pocket and showed it to her.

"You are wrong to think I have been out with the boys, mother," he said. "See this bottle of olives? Well, I've been out in the country where all is beautiful and I picked these for you."

For the 20,000 delegates to the National Clubwoman's Biennial convention this week the New York committee will have ready 400,000 hairpins, 5,000 fans, 200 pairs of scissors, 10,000 pencils, 20,000 writing pads, 100 bottles of smelling salts and a barrel or so of pink and white face powder.

A chili con carne cafe has opened off Fifth Avenue for the social smart set. It is being patronized too. The dish is so hot that one patron suggested they serve a half dozen kerchiefs with each order.

Spring Twilight

Singing in the rain, robin?
Rippling out so fast
All thy flutelike notes, as if
This singing were thy last!

After sundown, too, robin?
Though the fields are dim,
And the trees grow dark and still,
Dripping from leaf and limb.

'Tis heart-broken music—
That sweet, faltering strain—
Like a mingled memory,
Half ecstasy, half pain.

Surely thus to sing, robin,
Thou must have in sight
Beautiful skies behind the shower
And dawn beyond the night.

Would thy faith were mine, robin!
Then, though night were long,
All its silent hours should melt
Their sorrow into song.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, May 22—Rails continued their advancing movement today on a broad inquiry, but specialties were subjected to persistent realizing sales.

The upward swing in the stock market was renewed on the assumption of trading today, rails again leading the movement transcontinentals wherein particular demand. Union Pacific opened with 2,500 shares at a maximum gain of 5/8, which soon increased to 1 1/4 with 1 3/8 for Canadian Pacific. Reading showed an early gain of a substantial fraction and Lehigh Valley, St. Paul, Atchison, New York Central and New Haven were active at higher levels. U. S. Steel's opening transaction consisted of 2,600 shares, duplicating its recent best price at 85 5/8 and coppers as well as leading specialties showed further improvement.

Irregular movements of the first hour indicated increased realizing. Canadian Pacific declined sharply, and other rails yielded easily but more moderately. Trading then drifted to the munitions and similar shares, with gains of 1 to 2 points for Crucible, the Locomotives, New York Airbrake, American Car and Industrial Alcohol.

Motors and coppers and zinc issues were higher, but United States Steel was relatively backward. Bonds were firm with Baltimore and Ohio convertibles in special demand.

Advances in Harriman-Gas stocks to best prices of the current movement, with some hesitation elsewhere, featured the final hour. The closing was strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, May 22.—Prospects that despite less acreage the Nebraska yield this season might equal the amount harvested in 1915 had a bearish influence today in the wheat market here. Opening prices, which ranged from 3/8 off to 5/8 up, with July at $1.12 to $1.12 1/4, and September at $1.12 5/8 to $1.12 7/8, were followed by a material set-back all around.

The close was weak, 3 to 3 3/8@3 1/2c net lower, with July at $1.08 1/2@7/8 and Sept. at $1.09 1/4@3/8.

Predictions of enlarged receipts eased the corn market. There was no urgent pressure, though, from sellers. After opening 1/4 down to 1/8 advance, prices underwent a moderate general sag.

The close was heavy at 2 to 2 1/2 @2 5/8c net decline.

Oats declined with other grain. Fine weather to promote growth gave an advantage to the bears.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions. There was a noticeable absence of support.

Shoupe says his substitute is made from breakfast cereal and one ounce added to five gallons of water will do the same work as five gallons of gasoline..

ANXIETY FOR U. S. FORCES

San Antonio, Texas, May 22.—Some anxiety as to the reported situation of the American troops south of Boquillas, was displayed today at General Funston's headquarters. No official reports however, indicating hostile movements of any band near Colonel Sibley's two troops of the 14th cavalry had been received. When last accounted for Major Langhorne and his two troops of the Eighth Cavalry were moving northward to join Colonel Sibley. If it is established that the little punitive column is in danger, it is probable a force of the sixth cavalry, which has just arrived in the big bend district will be used as reinforcement.

PARTING RESPECTS ARE PAID GEO. B. COX

Cincinnati, O., May 22. With theatrical men and political leaders from every part of the country in attendance, the funeral of the late George B. Cox, was held from his home here today. Preceding the services at the home, services were held by the local lodge of Elks of which the deceased was a member. Rev. Hugo Eisenlohr, of this city, officiated.

While there has been no search for such a document, it is believed by Mr. Cox's personal attorney, Benjamin Heidensfeld, that there is no will of George B. Cox in existence.

"Under the law", said Mr. Heidensfeld, "the widow will receive the entire estate in case there is no will, and I do not believe one will be found." Those familiar with Mr. Cox's business affairs, today estimated that his estate will run into the millions.

WAR BOOTY COMES TO THIS COUNTRY

New York, May 22. The unusual sight of a foreign steamship entering port with her decks loaded with cases and cases containing aeroplanes, hydroaeroplanes, cannon and other war appliances was witnessed here today with the arrival of the French line steamer La Fayette from Bordeaux.

The war equipment listed on the ship's manifests as weighing fifty tons, and having a value of $70,000, belongs to the French government and the greater part of it is now destined for the Germans. It had been loaned by France to the exhibition committee of a concert to be held next month by friends of the entente powers to raise funds for relief work.

BRITISH WILL BE PLACED ON ISLAND

London, May 22—The American embassy at Constantinople which has charge of British interests in Turkey during the war, sent word today of the disposition of the British forces captured by the Turks at Kut-el-Amara. This information is contained in the following official statement from the British press bureau:

"Ambassador Page states that the American embassy at Constantinople has been informed by the Ottoman government that General Townshend (who was in command at Kut-el-Amara) and his staff will be brought to Constantinople and probably will be assigned to the Island of Prinkipo (in the sea of Marmora) where they will be allowed full liberty. Most of the officers and men are still at Kut-el-Amara and Bagdad. Some will be sent to Damascus."

LYNCH SAVED

London, May 22.—Official confirmation was obtained today of the reports that a sentence of ten years in prison had been imposed in the case of Jeremiah C. Lynch, an American citizen, charged with having participated in the Irish rebellion. The American embassy received this information today from the military authorities.

Washington, May 22.—Ambassador Page at London today cabled the state department that he had been officially advised by the British government that Jeremiah C. Lynch, a naturalized American citizen, convicted of complicity in the Dublin rebellion, had originally been sentenced to death but that the sentence had been commuted to ten years imprisonment.

Confirmation of the ten years sentence given Lynch was also sent by American Consul Adams at Dublin. Ambassador Page said he was officially informed by the home office that the death sentence had been imposed upon Lynch. There is nothing in the messages to indicate whether the representations ordered by President Wilson in Lynch's behalf had resulted in the commutation of sentence.

Ambassador Page also reported that John J. Kilgallon, of Long Island City, New York, whose father asked the state department to intervene in his behalf, is interned in Camp at Stafford, England.

TRIAL OF PHYSICIAN ON CHARGE MURDERING FATHER-IN-LAW OPENS WITH MANY WITNESSES

New York, May 22.—Four alienists head the throng of witnesses gathered in the criminal branch of the supreme court today for the trial of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, the young New York dentist, sportsman and man-about-town, who is charged with murder in the first degree, in poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck, a wealthy manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich. Since he has confessed the deed, the prosecution believes that the defense will rely upon a plea of insanity. To combat this testimony the state has engaged three medical experts and summoned 115 witnesses who knew the defendant at different periods of his career, many of them to testify that his behavior in their presence had shown no signs of mental abnormality. The defense has summoned one alienist.

Probably the most interesting figures at the trial, however, next to the prisoner himself, will be his wife, Mrs. Clara Peck Waite, and Mrs. Margaret Horton, a young New York singer, with whom Waite occupied at times, a "studio" at an uptown hotel. Altogether, the state has subpoenaed 115 witnesses. Extra panels of 250 talismen have been summoned, and it may be a day or two before a jury is selected.

Mr. Peck, the alleged murder victim and his wife, came to New York shortly after Christmas of last year to visit their daughter and son-in-law. The second week in January Mrs. Peck became ill and on January 30 she died in the Waite's apartment. At Waite's suggestion her body was taken to Detroit and cremated. Because of this fact the prosecution sought an indictment against the son-in-law only in connection with the death of Mr. Peck, which took place March 12. The very day he was to be buried at Grand Rapids his son, Percy S. Peck, received from New York the following telegram:

"Suspicion aroused. Demand autopsy. Examine body.

(Signed) K. ADAMS."

The identity of "K. Adams" has not been revealed, but it is expected that it will come out during the trial. The telegram had the effect of starting an investigation which showed that Mr. Peck had been poisoned.

Waite's arrest followed shortly. He confessed that he had administered poison to both Mr. and Mrs. Peck. The death of the former was attributed to arsenic.

AUSTRIANS WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM ALBANIA REPORT OF DIPLOMAT

Paris, May 22—A nuetral diplomat, who has just returned from Albania, is quoted in a dispatch to the Matin from Athens as saying that the Austrians have withdrawn 50,000 troops from Albania in the last three weeks. According to this diplomat, the Austrians have left only small detachments to guard the towns they have occupied, leaving a garrison of 300 at Fiera and 600 at Berat. The remainder of the troops left in the country are concentrated at Durazzo. The abandonment of the Albanian front is said to be due to the impossibility of bringing up supplies.

The statement that the Austrians are drawing their main forces from Albania apparently conflicts with recent dispatches from Athens and Paris, which stated that the Teutons were about to launch an attack in force against Avlona, the only town that remains in the possession of the Italians. On May 19 the Austrians were reported to have assembled a fleet of 150 transports at Fiume to transport troops and supplies to Durazzo.

BLOCK HOUSES ARE TAKEN BY FRENCH IN AVOCOURT WOOD

Paris, May 22.—French grenadiers occupied several block houses in Avocourt wood on the Verdun front in the course of severe fighting last night. The struggle west of Dead Man Hill was terrific. The war office statement of this afternoon says that the attacks of German infantry were repulsed.

The block houses in Avocourt wood were abandoned by the Germans. East of the Meuse infantry fighting occurred at the Haudromont quaries captured yesterday by the French. The Germans attacked these positions and, the statement asserts, were repulsed with heavy loss.

BRANDEIS AND RUBLEE VOTES THIS WEEK ARE EXPECTED IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., May 22—Indications today were that Senate action on confirming the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court and George Rublee as member of the Federal Trade Commission, would be important features of the week's congressional program.

A forerunner of the fight on Mr. Rublee was imminent in the senate today. The question was whether the senate would hold an open, instead of secret session tomorrow, when it reconsiders the vote by which Mr. Rublee was rejected last week.

The motion to reconsider was made by Senator Hollis, of New Hampshire, and the proposal to abandon the practice of executive sessions for such action was borne by resolutions of Senators Kenyon and LaFolette. The senate judiciary committee will act Wednesday on the nomination of Mr. Brandeis, most of whose friends have ceased to expect anything but a report without recommendation. This would throw the fight against Mr. Brandeis on the floor of the senate and his champions are hoping for adoption of the resolutions calling for open sessions.

The rivers and harbors appropriation bill was still before the senate today, with Senators Kenyon and Sherman intent on resuming their filibuster against the measure. Night sessions were in prospect.

In the house it was thought probable the naval bill will not be taken up until next week. The District of Columbia appropriation bill was up for consideration today, and the diplomatic and consular bill may follow later in the week.

"Pison Bill" Kennedy, who is suffering with blood poisoning of the arm, caused by neglecting a gun-shot wound, was warranted over to the county authorities by the safety department, Monday.

The American Dollar Declines In Scandinavia; English Sterling Is Down

Stockholm, May 11—The American dollar has been steadily declining in value on the Scandinavian Bourse until on May 10 the drop represented a loss of 12 percent more than half of which has occurred in the last two months.

This condition is partly accounted for by the fact that the Germans have recently dumped a great quantity of American money and bills receivable on the Stockholm market. It is believed, however, that it is principally due to the falling off in American trade during the past six months, owing to the difficulty and danger in transferring money caused by the tightening of the British blockade. The seizure and holding up of mails is also a factor.

Letters reaching Stockholm today were mailed in New York seven weeks ago. As mails to America are stopped also by the British patrol boats and the letters censored in England, merchants must figure on three and a half months on an exchange of letters. This makes it practically impossible to transact business in this way.

The English pound sterling has been leading the dollar downward. From the normal 18 Kroner and 20 ore it was quoted today at 15.42, while still less was paid on exchange, a loss of more than fifteen percent. German marks showed a loss of more than 30 percent. They have dropped from a normal price of 90 kroner per hundred to 60.80. The Russian ruble and the Austrian crown are forth today about half their normal value and the French franc is 25 percent under par.

Hope To Make Florida A Great Cattle State

The Times carries on another page in this issue a complete and full description of a scheme launched and backed by capitalists that it is thought will result in Florida becoming one of the greatest hog and cattle producing states in the entire union.

A corporation known as the Southern Cattle Feeding company, has secured 60,000 acres of Florida land, which is rapidly and systematically being converted into a huge cattle and hog ranch. The corporation, which is capitalized at $1,500,000.00, has a force of three hundred men at work getting the huge tract into shape. S. E. Strode, former Food and Dairy Commissioner of Ohio, and known as one of the most expert cattle men in the country, is at the head of the company and has definitely located in Florida and is supervising the ranch. The huge tract is cut up into units, and has been fenced with wire. Already more than thirty bungalows have been erected for the convenience of the large army of workingmen. Hugo tractor engines are being used to furnish power for caterpillar plows and the soil is being turned over at the rate of 500 acres per day. The land, it should be understood, is not for sale, for the corporation is sanguine every available acre will be used in their proposition to raise cattle and hogs for the markets. It is claimed that within three years at the outside, Florida will be exporting more cattle and hogs than the combined value of her fruit and vegetable output.

In order to properly finance the proposition, the company, which will be represented locally by Ex-Sheriff John F. Eckhart, whose office is located in the Masonic Temple, has decided to offer stock for sale. R. L. Dollings, of Hamilton, Ohio, is the company's representative in Ohio. Funds will be raised by the disposition of 7 per cent non-taxable participating preferred stock.

S. H. Davis, a Gallia county citizen, who fell by the wayside and was arrested for intoxication Saturday, was very penitent when arraigned in police court Monday. He said it was the first time in his life that he was ever arrested. He was fined $5 and West Side friends came to the rescue by paying his way out. Mike Engelhart and John Williams, a Virginia negro, were fined $5 each for drunkeness.

Mrs. Florence Webb, of Plum street, Earlytown, was fined the court costs of $3.80 when she acknowledged slapping Ethel Harrison, a 14-year-old neighbor girl. She said the girl had gouged her with a broom when she passed and that a few days before Ethel had assaulted her 11-year-old daughter, Nellie Webb, over a roller skate trade they had made. Mrs. Webb said life was becoming unbearable with thos people around, said that their language was fierce and demanded a rehearing of the case, but the mayor refused, declaring he did not wish to impose any hardship upon anyone, but simply wanted peace preserved. He ordered Mrs. Webb not to molest the others again and Mrs. Harrison, too, was advised to keep her children away from the Webb home.

Joe Henry was ordered brought in to answer to a traffic violation, his third in recent months. He is a driver of an Independent taxi-cab.

WAITE JURY IS SELECTED

New York, May 22.—The task of selecting a jury to try Dr. Arthur Warren Waite for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, millionaire drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Michigan, was completed shortly before 1:30 o'clock today.

The twelfth juror was in the box three hours after the first talisman was examined. Seldom has a trial of this kind moved so rapidly, it was said.

Waite himself appeared as calm as any of the spectators who crowded into the historic court room, wherein Harry Kendall Thaw, Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, the four gun men implicated in the Becker case, and other noted prisoners, stood trial for their lives.

Only fifty-six of the special panacy of 500 talismen summoned were examined before the jury was completed. Ten of the jurors are married and two are single men.

Justice Shearen stated that they would not be kept in custody, but would be allowed to go to their homes.

Mrs. Clara Louise Peck Waite, wife of the accused man, it was announced, would be a witness against him. She was not in court.

That the defense places its greatest reliance upon the plea of insanity, was early disclosed by the interrogating of talismen.

LOAN ADVANTAGES

4. The weekly or monthly plan is better for the wage earner than the straight loan because as he pays each week the interest si not only being paid but also the principal. Many have tried the straight loan and changed to our DEFINITE CONTRACT PLAN. Weekly payments are not so hard on the wage earner, as to pay a lump sum and he can more readily meet them. Weekly payments and our semi-annual interest reducing plan makes the best loan for wage earners.

DISASTROUS STORM IS RECALLED

Fifty six years ago Sunday May 21, 1860, Portsmouth was visited by one of the most disastrous storms in its history.

Three persons lost their lives in the storm, which broke over the city at 4:30 p. m.

David Price, a teamster, William McCallister and a baby, who was killed in its cradle when hit by a heavy timber swept from a building where the victims were. Mr. Price was sitting on his dray near Second and Chillicothe street when he was struck by the roof of the building at Second and Chillicothe streets now occupied by the General Service company. Mr. Price had his life crushed out and his mule was also killed outright. Mr. McCallister was standing near the Brushart building on Second street just above Market when he was struck by a window blown out of that building and fatally injured.

The steeple of the First Presbyterian church was blown down during the storm which wrought havoc in all sections of the city and especially along the river front.

Waves from 15 to 20 feet high lashed the shore and caused great damage to river craft moored here. The storm was accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain and will easily be recalled by the older residents of Portsmouth.

RUSSIAN SUBS ARE SINKING GERMAN SHIPS

London, May 22.—Russian submarines continue to harass German shipping in the Baltic. A exchange telegraph despatch from Copenhagen quotes the Politiken as saying the German steamship Worms, 4,428 tons gross and owned in Hamburg, is believed to have been one of the latest victims. The Worms left Sweden several days ago and has not reached Germany. It is also reported that the Swedish steamship Rosalind, 877 tons, struck a mine near Stockholm last night and sank. The crew was saved.

DE WOLF HOPPER AND FAY TINCHER IN "DON QUIXOTE" TRIANGLE-FINE ARTS DRAMA

De Wolf Hopper In "Don Quixote" Columbia Tonight

Right on the heels of Billie Burke in "Peggy," as it were, here comes another of the world's greatest stars, De Wolf Hopper in "Don Quixote," Cervante's famous story.

Just as Miss Burke ise the most prominent feminine star yet presented by "Triangle," so is Mr. Hopper the most important male acquisition from the legitimate stage, and just as everybody enjoyed Miss Burke in her interesting portrayal of "Peggy," just so Hopper in "Don Quixote" at the Columbia tonight.

Mr. Hopper has been before the public with ever increasing popularity for nearly forty years. His "Wang," "El Capitan," "Panjandrum," "The Charlatan," "Happyland," and many other of his successes are readily recalled by the last and present generations of theatregoers.

Since the year 1878 De Wolf Hopper has visited practically every community in this country which boasts of an opera house and almost everybody knows De Wolf Hopper.

Dont let anything keep you from seeing Mr. Hopper in "Don Quixote" at the Columbia tonight. First show this evening starts promptly at 6:30 at an admission price of only 10 cents.

Rankin Drew, Co-Starring With Virginia Pearson In "The Hunted Woman" At The Lyric Tonight

"The Hunted Woman" not only contains an endless amount of dramatic action, but many thrilling scenes which have been played up to great heights. One of the most notable of these is a landslide in which many tons of earth and debris are sent hurling down the mountain side.

In this story by James Oliver Curwood, the well-known author tells of the marriage of a girl to a notorious rake because of a death-bed request of her father. She refuses to live with him and he pursues her relentlessly with his attentions until she hides away in a Canadian city. Here she learns that he is dead—a grave marked with his name being found in an engineering camp in the northwest. She journeys there to make certain of it and falls into the hands of a white slaver. A handsome young author rescues her and shows her the grave. The landslide entombs them in a mine and they plight their troth. After their escape they are married, and then the husband finds that no body is in the grave and that the second ceremony was not legal. His supposed wife cannot understand the change in his attitude toward her, until the white slaver attempts to drag her back to his power. The latter's lieutenant proves to be the missing husband, and in a terrific fight, the two villains meet their death. S. Rankin Drew directed the picture. His great knowledge of dramatic technique is injected into this new thriller, adding tremendous power to the tense situations.

Pauline Frederick Stars as "Audrey" at the Lyric Tomorrow.

If an infuriated mob were at your back shrieking for your death, would you run away to save yourself, or would you stand and defy them? Though she is terror-stricken, Pauline Frederick refuses to seek safety in flight and dares the towns-folk to touch her in the Famous Players-Paramount adaptation of Mary Johnston's world-renowned novel and play, "Audrey," adapted by Harriet Ford and E. F. Boddington, which is the feature at the Lyric tomorrow.

"Audrey" differs from Miss Frederick's previous screen characterizations in the great feeling of sympathy which she arouses. This is the dominant note in "Audrey" as we see this poor girl made a mere slave and later accused of conduct of which she is entirely innocent. The persecution of Audrey, her battles against poverty and the narrow-minded gossips of her little community, develop one of the strongest and most lovable characters that Miss Frederick has played on the screen.

At The Exhibit

"The Hooded Helper" is the title of chapter seven of "The Iron Claw." The scrip of paper is again located in an ash barrel by an old negro mammy. Golden's wife is relocated in the home of her husband along with her daughter Margery, and the parrot stolen from the chicken coop by a negro again takes a hand. An excellent number.

"Happiness Happenings" is an American Starlight comedy.

At The Arcana

"The Blackmailer" is a one-part Laemmle drama, featuring Elsie Jane Wilson and Rupert Julian. The wife, who is being persecuted by a blackmailer, arranges a strong alibi and says she intends to kill him, thus regaining her letters. She then laughs at him and shows that the gun is not loaded.

"A Model Husband" is a two reel Victor number. The plot is strong, picturing the exposure of a hypocrital reformer. A picture you should be sure to see. "There's No Place Like Home" is a Rex drama, picturing the experiences of a small boy who runs away from home and returns later in a penitent frame of mind.

At The Temple

"The Spotted Warning" is the title of the sixth chapter of "The Iron Claw". Still in pursuit of the scrap of paper Legar sends to Golden "the spotted warning", whic his a message of death. To save Margery from his clutches Golden sends her to her grandmother. She is waylaid by agents of Legar. "The Laughing Mask" comes to the rescue.

"The Girl That Didn't Matter" is a two-part comedy followed by "Trouble Enough", a screaming comedy number.

At The Forest

Messrs. Farmer and Holman have booked another big feature show for tonight. Tonight's bill is made up of extraordinary features. A Western drama with big thrills will hold you spell bound for half an hour. A drama that will grip you from the start. Don't fail to see it. The two rattling comedies will make you hold your sides with laughter. The biggest bill in town for five cents. Tuesday brings chapter six of "The Diamond From the Sky", entitled "Shadows at Sun-Rise."

Drift Fires In West End

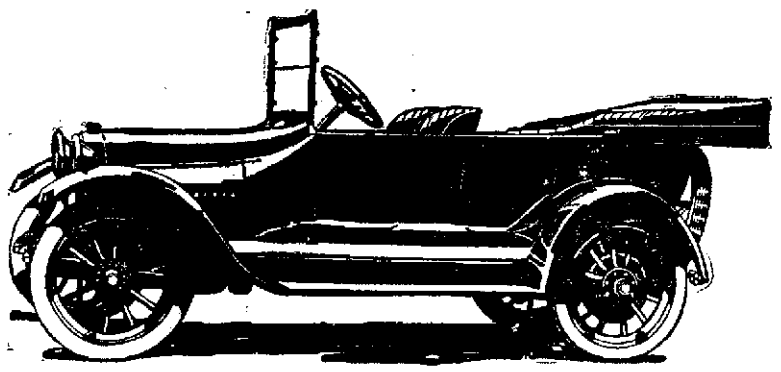

Drift fires at the west end of the new Scioto river bridge, West End of the city, caused the Seventh street fire company considerable trouble Sunday evening.

Boys set fire to the wood and the flames rapidly spread. Henry Ruel took one of his sprinkling wagons to the bridge to assist in fighting the fire until the department arrived.

New Boston Youths Before Judge Beatty

Herbert Damarin and Raymond Fitzsimmons, two New Boston youths, were before Judge Thomas C. Beatty Monday on a charge of stealing some baseball supplies from William Dillhoefer, Austin McHenry and Clarence Hubert, three members of the Portsmouth baseball team.

The boys, it is alleged, stole a mask, catcher's mitt, fielder's mitt and a bat. Henry Koger, the park policeman, says he found that the boys had the supplies and sent for them. The two boys sent word that if they wanted the goods to call.

Judge Beatty continued the case pending the good behavior of the boys.

CHURCH NURSERY IS GROWING POPULAR

The nursery at the Second Presbyterian church continues to grow in favor. Competent ladies are always in charge at the morning and evening services. There is no excuse for mothers staying home on account of baby 'erying" in church. Leave him in the nursery. Sunday morning Mrs. C. Olson and Mrs. John Rinner were in charge. Mrs. Henry Revare and Mrs. Walter Patterson were in charge Sunday evening.

HOW MRS. BEAN MET THE CRISIS

Carried Safely Through Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nashville, Tenn.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I had a tumor as large as a child's head. The doctor said it was three years coming and gave me medicine for it until I was called away from the city for some time. Of course I could not go to him then, so my sister-in-law told me that she thought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure it. It helped both the Change of Life and the tumor and when I got home I did not need the doctor. I took the Pinkham remedies until the tumor was gone, the doctor said, and I have not felt it since. I tell every one how I was cured. If this letter will help others you are welcome to use it." —Mrs. E. H. BEAN, 625 Joseph Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a pure remedy containing the extractive properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, meets the needs of woman's system at this critical period of her life. Try it.

If there is any symptom in your case which puzzles you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

GIRL DRAGGED BY PONY TO A FRIGHTFUL DEATH

Mrs. Homer Frye, of 1113 Eighteenth street, recently received word of the tragic death of her niece, Mildred Haught, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haught, of New Castle, Pa. The little girl met a horrible death, being killed when her pony ran away.

The girl was driving in the large yard at her home when the pony frightened and ran away, running about the yard several times and down a street for quite a distance. The girl became entangled in the reins and was dragged on the ground. Her head was crushed and her back broken.

Bert Haught is a brother of Mrs. Frye. The terrible accident happened last Monday, and the funeral was held Wednesday. Mrs. Frye was unable to attend the funeral.

SNEAK THIEF IS BUSY IN MASONIC TEMPLE OFFICES

Petty robberies in the Masonic Temple Friday evening and Saturday morning are bothering those who lost articles in the most mysterious way.

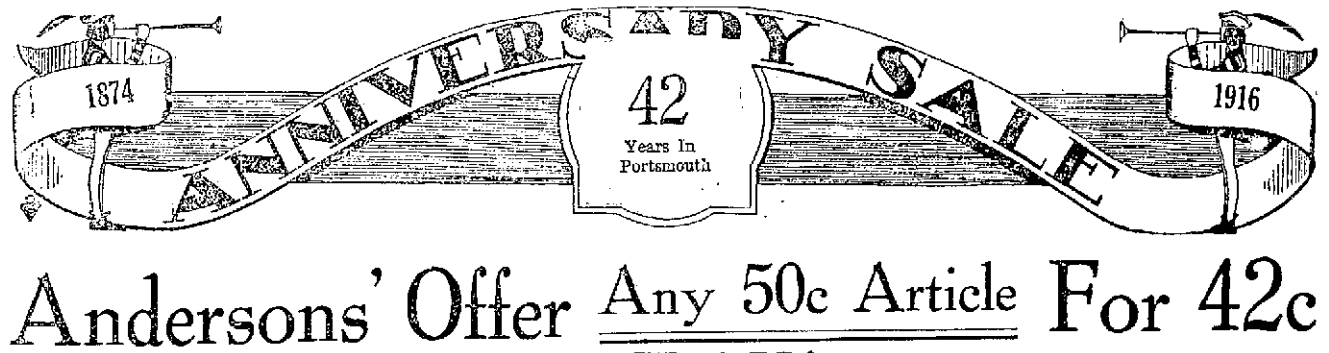

Late Friday evening the offices of Drs. Howard Williamson and H. T. Moore were entered and some gold plate valued at $15 was taken. Nothing else was disturbed. There were several hundred dollars worth of instruments and teeth lying about.

Dr. Williamson stated Monday that all of his material is usually stored in an iron safe just after the offices are closed. The office girl, Miss Ethel Hudson, was home sick Friday and the supplies were not locked up.

Saturday morning Miss Mary Pirrung, stenographer at the offices of A. H. Richardson, fourth floor, missed her small black pocketbook, which contained a small amount of money. The purse was lying on the desk and when Miss Pirrung stepped out into the hall for a few moments, it mysteriously disappeared.

About the same time Miss Cad Drown, of the C. S. Cadot rental agency, first floor, lost her black leather pocketbook which contained about $12.

Most of those who have offices in the Temple believe that it is the work of a sneak thief who is familiar with the habits of the various offices.

German American Alliance Branch Established In City

A branch of the German-American Alliance was organized at a well attended meeting held in the Harugari hall, Sunday afternoon, it starting off with a membership of thirty-eight.

A permanent organization was effected by electing the following officers: J. V. Schiffer, president; Val Roth, vice president; Louis Stark, recording and corresponding secretary; Frank Doll, financial secretary; Herman Huels, treasurer. The list of charter members will be kept open until next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a meeting will again be held at Harugari hall.

A letter was read from Dr. John Schwab, former mayor of Cincinnati, who is the state president of the alliance, in which he expressed a willingness to come to Portsmouth and address the new organization, some time in June.

Mr. Schiffer, the head of the new organization, was formerly president of the Leavenworth, Kansas branch, which has grown from a membership of eleven to over two thousand and has been named an honorary life president of the Kansas State Alliance.

With the alliance a Maennerchor or male singing society will also be organized.

POLITICS

James W. Faulkner in the Cincinnati Enquirer says of local interest:

"Having discovered that Adams county has not been represented in the Ohio Senate for 21 years, when the late Dudley Phillips had that honor, J. A. Shriver, of that bailiwick, has announced his intention of seeing justice done. Therefore, he will be a candidate and proposes to invite the attention of the masses to the fact that Scioto county has hogged the seat for 11 years, Jackson for 6 and measly little Pike for 4 years. This is bad news for Senator W. D. Tremper, of Portsmouth, but it must be told. Shriver has entered formally, had a lot of photoengravings made and undertaken certain understandings with the poor but honest editors of the district to keep his name prominently before the district until next August."

Caught Yellow Catfish That Tipped Beam At 75 Pounds

While fishing in the Ohio river near Pine Creek Saturday Jacob Price, well known fisherman hauled in one of the largest catfish caught in the Ohio in recent years. It was a yellow cat and tipped the beam at exactly 75 pounds. The big catch was made with minnows as bait.

Mr. Price has established an all summer fishing camp near Pine Creek.

A DELIGHTFUL PLACE TO LIVE

The winter has passed and spring is waning, with the full tide of summer and wider development but nearing yet do you know that already a smart suburb has sprung up to Portsmouth to the east? If you do not and will go out to the delighful Nirvana addition, which lies just east of the quaint and charming village of Wheelersburg you will learn and so learn both to your surprise and your pleasure. For there you will see a sight to charm those who love pretty and delightful homes, and who does not?

Here and there and all about are beautiful bungalows and cosy cottages, diversified with the ever attractive Queen Anne and novel stucco dwellings, with the merry and cheerful ring of hammer and song of saw, telling that development is steadily progressing.

It isn't telling the whole story to say lots in this fairest of all suburban tracts are in demand, they are actually selling rapidly. Up to this last Saturday, not counting the sale of acreage plots, ninety-six lots had been sold and they had been disposed of to buyers who mean to build and reside thereon. This is a splendid record, but it will not be by any means surprising if it be exceeded in the next three months and practically every lot be in the hands of individual owners.

There is a reason, in fact several reasons, for the popularity of Nirvana addition. In the first place the location is ideal. It sits well upon the highlands, far above high water, the lots are unusually large, being 50 by 200 feet, removing from the cramp of closely set city lots and giving to each home ample space for lawn, garden and flower beds. Then right at the border of the village of Wheelersburg, a most attractive place with its schools of excellent repute and its several churches of different denominations, lies fair Nirvana. Further yet, a brick street is now being constructed from Sciotoville east, that will run along the north of the addiion, making a continuous hard road from it to Portsmouth. Re-enforce this with the fact that terms have just been completed, with the board of education of the village by which the splendid $35,000 high school recently voted, will be located superbly on a four and one-half acre tract, carved out of the northwest corner of the addition and that would seem to give it all that might be expected.

But the one great fact of the many inducements Nirvana offers as a residential section is yet to be mentioned. This is the inauguration of the traction line which is being celebrated this very day. The line is entirely completed to Wheelersburg, it will be so in two or three months to Ironton, its eastern terminus. This line runs along the addition its entire length. All know the man at the head of it Mr. Levi D. York, does nothing by halves and his very name is a guarantee that the service furnished by it will be all that can be desired. Nirvana residents will have all its advantages of that service, not only car accommodation, but electric facilities, together with natural gas.

As before stated the lots in Nirvana are unusually large, 50x200 feet. They are held at a reasonable figure and sold on easy terms.

Sciotoville Hustling And Growing--Rival To New Boston

Village Now Boasts Of 2,000 Population, Many Houses Going Up

Sciotoville, the hustling village on the Ohio river about 6 miles above Portsmouth, one of the largest towns in Scioto county which has become a rival for New Boston in the rapidity of growth, is in the midst of the greatest building and prosperity boom since its foundation. The opening of the traction line means a great deal to the village, especially to the addition on the east along the traction line, many desirable building lots being obtainable between the hill and the river.

The first house was built by William Brown in the year of 1835 on the present site of Sciotoville. The town was laid out in the year 1841 by Joseph Riggs for Madison Price, James Taylor and Charles Moore. The plat consisted of 25 lots covering seven and one-half acres. In 1841 Madison Price platted an addition of 23 lots, consisting of eight acres. In 1868 the Wilcox addition of 26 lots was platted. William Corwine platted an addition of 5 lots in December, 1868. In 1870 Samuel McConnell and H. A. Towne platted an addition of 35 lots. In 1871 William Corwine platted an addition of 23 lots. June 13, 1889 C. W. Turner and wife, John S. Mann and wife, Ira S. Farney, W. L. Hitchcock and wife, Thos. Brock and wife, Andrew Daum and wife, Adam Ault and wife, and Melvin Moore and wife platted an addition of 6.44 acres sub-divided into 12 lots, making a total of 149 lots in 1889.

Addition after addition has been added until the village now covers a wide area although all the additions known as Sciotoville are not within the corporate limits of the village. Long Meadow, Martinsburg and Tonawanda additions on the north of the village and Linwood on the east are outside the corporation. Farney addition in the northeastern part of the town and the addition in which considerable building has been done in the last year is in the corporation.

All seem to be taking an interest in the new life of the town which is said to be entering upon a new era. Every part of the village is receiving new houses. Sciotoville has gas, electric lights and telephone service, but has no sewer system, fire protection or water works. The village was just recently incorporated and it can be safely said that it will not be long before Sciotoville will be taking steps to secure these modern and necessary improvements.

The manufacturing interest of Sciotoville began in 1847 when Taylor, Decker and Company operated a foundry on the present site of the Scioto Fire Brick Co. This was destroyed later by fire. Sciotoville has always been a busy town, having had at different times a number of mills, all of which have been destroyed by fire, but the different manufacturing industries, and the one on which it has largely depended for a number of years and for which it has held more than a national reputation is that of its clay industry, which had its inception about 1863.

That year Reece Thomas took from Powers Hill two barrels of fire clay. It was taken to Ashland and converted into fire brick as an experiment. In 1864 or spring of 1865 Thomas Taylor moved their brick plant from Ashland to Sciotoville and began the manufacture of fire brick. At present Sciotoville furnishes labor for the Carlyle Paving Brick plant and the Harbison-Walker Refactories Company at Star Yards a mile below Sciotoville and the Scioto Fire Brick plant at Sciotoville. A large number of Sciotoville citizens also work in the Whitaker-Glessner steel plant at New Boston.

The Christian church was organized in 1867 and the present church edifice built in 1881. The Free Will Baptist church was organized in 1878, meetings being held in Marshall Hall. The Methodist church was organized in 1840 and soon afterwards a church building was erected. A new church was built in 1868. The village has a grade school and second grade high school. The grade school is a two story brick structure of six rooms. A new high school, modern in every respect was opened last year. Plans are being drawn for an addition to the high school.

The I. O. O. F. lodge now situated in Sciotoville was organized in Wheelersburg in 1858 and was removed to Sciotoville in 1890. The K. of P. lodge was instituted May 1, 1890 with 30 charter members.

It is estimated that over 500 people have moved to the village since work was started on the C. & O. Northern bridge piers about two years ago. In 1910 the census was 1300 but at present it is estimatd at 2000 which includes the additions. Since the opening of the many construction camps along the route of the C. & O. Northern railway new business houses have opened up in Sciotoville which has become the mecca for the hundreds of men employed in these camps. The building of the new railroad has already meant much to the business men of the village who are looking for far brighter prospects when the road is put in operation in about another year.

The N. & W. and B. & O. railways and the traction line pass through Sciotoville. A paved roadway connects the village with Portsmouth. Work will be started within the next few days on the paving of the three miles of main highway between Sciotoville and Wheelersburg. Ohio river packets also stop at Sciotoville.

The recently elected officials of the village have already started plans for a number of improvements. Uniform cement sidewalks have been ordered laid. The streets will be paved; street lights erected, and sewer and water systems installed. The present hustling officials are as follows: Mayor, E. E. Haequard; Clerk, Russell Ketler; Marshal, David Evans; Council, K. N. Nagel, Jacob Ellessor, S. F. Johnson, Theodore Q. Shump, Loren Yost and Isiah Palmer; Assessor, J. C. Hackworth.

Ohio Mothers Abolish Old Forms of Stomach Dosing

For Croup and Cold Troubles They Are Now Using the New Treatment of Antiseptic Vapors and Fresh Air That Replaces Internal Medicines, Poultices, Plasters and Flannel Jackets.

You Just Rub It On Over Throat and Chest—Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

Most people take too much medicine. Nowadays we know that nearly all medicine is a poison if taken in sufficient quantities, and that the less medicine we take the better for our health. This is particularly true for children. Still croup and cold troubles require some form of treatment—they must not be neglected. This problem is solved by use of the "outside" remedy called Vick's Vap-O-Rub Salve. In the South it is universally used instead of internal medicines for all forms of cold troubles, from head colds, sore throat, bronchitis and catarrh, down to the worst colds, sore throat, bronchitis or incipient pneumonia. You apply it over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the throat as the body heat releases the medication in the form of vapors. These medicated vapors are inhaled, with each breath, all night long, loosening the phlegm and opening the air passages. Here is what Ohio people say:

CINCINNATI, OHIO, Mrs. Fred Callahan, 29 Gregory St., writes:—"I have four sons, aged from six months to seven years, and find that your remedy has done them a world of good in regard to their suffering from croup and heavy colds. My sister, who is subject to catarrh, gets better relief from your remedy than from anything she has ever used.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mrs. Irene Alkire, 773 W. Broad Street:—"In regard to Vick's Vap-O-Rub, I can truthfully say it is all and more than it is advertised for. When I received my jar it was at a time when I wanted something, and wanted it badly, for my boy came home from school with croup, and I did not expect anything else than to be up all night. But thanks to Vick's we both slept well all night."

DAYTON, OHIO, Mrs. Thos. Johnson, 1624 Germantown Street:—"My little boy was taken with a severe case of croup a few weeks ago, and after trying everything I knew of without finding much relief, my druggist gave me a jar of Vick's Vap-O-Rub which I used with splendid results. I also find it a fine remedy for headache, and shall always keep it in my home hereafter."

Vick's Vap-O-Rub comes in three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00, at all druggists.

WHEELERSBURG SCHOOL BOARD BUYS SITE FOR A HIGH SCHOOL

Through a purchase, agreed to by the board of education of Wheelersburg, the new $35,000 high school building, for which the district recently voted bonds, will go up at the east end of the village on a site in Nirvana addition. The consideration was $3,100 and calls for five acres of land that lies on the hillside at the northwest corner of the addition, to the left of the pike, going from the city. The location is considered admirable. Having in view the great development going on nearabout it will be central and the elevation will lend a splendid perspective, while the magnificent trees on the property will lend an attractiveness that could not otherwise be secured without the expenditure of a considerable sum and the lapse of years. Two hills meet on the property and the plan is to erect the structure over the depression thus caused and thus effect a substantial saving in the cost of excavation for a basement. Lot owners in Nirvana especially are jubilant over the locating of the school as it will add materially, they believe, to the desirability of their holdings.

Harry W. Miller, the attorney, has purchased two and a half acres along side the school site and will erect a handsome suburban home thereon. It is said he paid a price considerably in advance of that secured by the board.

Large Congregations Greet New Minister

Two large congregations greeted Rev. Homer C. Smith at the Hutchins Street Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Sunday morning Rev. Smith delivered his first sermon as pastor of the church. His subject was "The Excellency of the Knowledge of Christ." Rev. Smith said that "To know Him is life eternal."

In the evening Rev. Smith's sermon was on "The New Creation in Christ." In his sermon Rev. Smith said, "As He dwells in us and we dwell in Him, old things pass away and all things become new."

Rev. Smith comes to Portsmouth from Racine, O. The new pastor and his family will be nicely located at 2231 Grant street. Mrs. Smith and children, Donald, Herbert and Conley and six weeks' old daughter are expected to arrive today from Racine.

Champs Lose First Extra Inning Game To Charleston, 5-3

Spencer's Team Had Three Run Lead Until Fatal Ninth; Senators Win In 14th Inning

JUST when it looked like that Portsmouth was about to chalk up its eleventh straight victory and blank the Charleston Senators at Millbrook Sunday afternoon before more than 1,000 fans one of those unaccountable slip ups made its presence felt and when the ninth had been concluded Charleston was on even terms with the Champs, each batting aggregation having amassed three runs in the regulation nine innings. But Portsmouth was through for the day while Walt Powell's men had just begun to play, the Senators winning out in the fourteenth inning, the game being the first extra inning game of the season in Millbrook.

After Henderson, who rescued Carpenter, had been put away by the Gauer-Spencer combination Costello, Curtis and Calhoun followed with hits and aided by a wild throw by Reeb two runs were scored and the game was ended as Portsmouth subsided peacefully in their turn at the bat in the fourteenth stanza. The fans were out to see the home boys win their eleventh game and when it was tossed away in the ninth after two men were down and nobody was on the sacks they felt that the tide had finally turned against Portsmouth. But ten games in a row is a "good deel" and no one kicked strenuously over Sunday's defeat.

For eight long innings Southpaw Reeb justified the faith reposed in him by his commander, Chief Spencer. Then a little wobble inserted itself and the jig was up. But the best of teams must lose now and then so Portsmouth chose Sunday as their day on which to end their winning streak.

Portsmouth scored one in the first inning. Dilts drew a walk and was moved up to second by Bauer's pretty sacrifice. Fisher then slashed a hit to left and Dilts scored. McHenry fanned and Costello tossed out Dilly with 3 and 2 on him.

Dilts opened the third with a triple to deep right. Bauer was thrown out by Daubert. Dilts scored while Daubert threw out Fisher. McHenry hit to Calhoun and died at first.

Portsmouth's last run came in the eighth. Bauer drew a walk and was forced by Fisher. The latter promptly stole second. McHenry lofted to Powell, but Dillhoefer lined a single through center and Fisher ran home.

Charleston then cut loose in the ninth with two down. Coffindaffer lined to Bush and Duffield hit to Spencer and his toss to Reeb, who covered first, beat Duffield by a step. Snell then batted for Carpenter and singled to right. Costello drew a walk and Curtis lined one to left, Snell scoring. Calhoun then hit to Spencer, who committed an error on the roller, Curtis and Calhoun scoring and the game was tied up. Calbert lined to Fisher for the third out.

Then the extra inning battle was on. Twice Portsmouth had a runner on second but Dilts failed to hit in the clutch and likewise Spencer and Charleston finally won out in the fourteenth on three hits and an error. The box-score:

kept after him all through the struggle.

The visitors had all the pepper in the world when they tied it up. Up to the ninth they looked hopelessly beaten.

Carpenter and Henderson pitched fine ball. Henderson gets credit for winning the game as he went in with the score a tie, 3 to 3.

Snell was benched in place of Duffield, who caught a very ordinary game. The fans here kept yelling for Biddy Beers all through the Saturday game as Snell was off in his throwing way off.

Calhoun is some first sacker. His work in the series closed yesterday stamps him one of the best in the league.

JUST GOSSIP

Lexington is here today for a four game series. It will be the first 1916 appearance of the Colts in Millbrook.

Dillhoefer caught another fine game, and he nipped two would-be pilferers.

Joe Bush had his first error of the season when he tossed wide to first base in the fifth inning.

Reeb certainly had Calbert's number. The big fellow was up seven times and failed to get a hit. He struck out twice.

Daubert robbed Spencer of a hit by making a brilliant stop of his sizzler. It also cut off a run.

Reeb was not as effective as usual, and he issued seven passes.

Demoe hurt his hand sliding into second yesterday. He received a very painful cut.

President Gableman was eminently pleased with the crowd. It was a fine turn out for a dark, cloudy day.

The fans questioned Umpire Crone's decisions on balls and strikes and they

Winning Streak Is Shattered

The winning streak has been shattered. But ten in a row is not so bad. Oh dear no.

Let's see what happened during these eventful days: Portsmouth scored 61 runs to her opponents 20, or in other words the Champs nicked the rubber 3 times every time one of the "hulmy" nicked it once.

The first victory was grabbed in Maysville on the day following the opening in that city. The score was 7 to 3. Then the team came home and beat Maysville 3 to 1 and 4 to 0. The Champs then hopped down to Lexington and beat the Colts four in a row, 8 to 3, 8 to 1, 7 to 2 and 3 to 2. The Spencer men then returned to Millbrook and beat the Senators three games, 9 to 8 and 7 to 4 and 8 to 1 before dropping Sunday's heart breaker.

Giants Still Going, Beat Redlegs Sunday

Cincinnati, May 22.—New York continued its winning streak by taking a decidedly one-sided contest from Cincinnati here Sunday, 11 to 1. All their runs and most of their hits were made in the first, seventh and eighth innings. Anderson pitched good ball. Griffith got a home run in the seventh, driving the ball to the center field fence. Fletcher was busy at short, accepting 11 chances without a fumble. Score:

NO, WE'LL PASS

Funny old game, this baseball pastime.

Catcher Snell was benched Sunday because of his mediocre work in the first three games the Senators played here. Sunday he was hurled into the breach as a pinch hitter and he started a rally that ultimately blossomed into victory for the visitors. Still he was a guard on the bench and sat there dejectedly until Powell motioned for him to grab his hickory stick and take a crack at one. He whaled a single into right and what followed is history. Canyou beat it?

The Huntington team certainly suffered a piece of hard luck Saturday when Kemper Shelton broke his ankle in sliding into second base. His absence from the Huntington lineup will greatly cripple this team.

25,000 Fans Saw Game

More than 25,000 fans saw Washington beat Cleveland yesterday in the latter city by a score of 4 to 3. Johnson won his own game in the ninth when he doubled. Speaker was up four times and went hitless. Covaleskie and Bayby opposed Johnson.

LADIES DAY AT PARK

This is Ladies' Day and the Forestites will no doubt turn out in a goodly number. There are many fans in Portsmouth and many of them will be on hand to witness the Lexington-Portsmouth game today.

The Charleston Senators left early Monday morning for Parkersburg, where they opened a four game series today. Manager Powell and his forces were greatly elated over their victory Sunday. It came like a clap out of the blue.

Maurice Brigg's Track Team Copped Championship

Sturdy athletes of the University School of Cleveland, who are coached by Maurice Briggs of this city, recently won the annual triangular championship track meet held in Cleveland. Many of Cleveland's best track men were entered in the various events and the meet was full of interest. Many splendid records in the various events were hung up. University School piled up 71 points, East 53 and Central 16.

Two triangular records were broken, the one-half mile run by Downer, of University and the one-half mile relay by the University team. Petol, of University, equaled the 220-yard dash mark.

The showing the University athletes was in no small measure due to the splendid training methods employed by Mr. Briggs in handling his men. Briggs is regarded as one of the best all round athletes in Ohio.

Al H. Bridwell is in Nashville trying to negotiate a deal whereby he will be permitted to join the Atlanta team in the Southern league. Briddy does not want to play in Nashville and according to word received here he will probably secure his release from the Nashville team.

This was demonstrated Sunday and Monday too. With the score of 3 to 0 in their favor, two out in the ninth, no one on the bases and two strikes on the batter the scribes packed a belated

FORMER BROOKFED TWIRLER SHOWING WELL WITH CUBS

TOM SEATON.

Chicago.—Tom Seaton, former pitcher for the Brooklyn Federals, and now with the Cubs, is acquiring a reputation as a batsman. In a recent game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, Seaton relieved Pierce in the second inning, after Brooklyn had scored three runs, held the opponents scoreless for the remainder of the game while the Cubs tied the score in the ninth inning, and then started the tenth inning with a base hit and later brought in the winning run.

Lexington Colts Are Here For 4 Games With Champs

Manager Howard Guyn and his Lexington Colts trooped into town Monday for a four game series in Millbrook park, the first game to be staged at three today. These games will no doubt be bitterly contested as the Colts are out to atone for the four stinging defeats the Champs handed the them on their recent invasion of Lexington.

Biddy Beers, who formerly wore Portsmouth and Charleston uniforms is the first string catcher of the Colts, and his friends will be out to give him the glad hand this afternoon.

MAY ENTER BIG MEET

Ironton, May 22.—If Ironton H. S. can secure an entry in the All Ohio High school track meet at Columbus next Saturday, Coach Dixon hopes to enter Prugler, Brooks, Davies, Jones, Heald, McKee, Staker and possibly others of the boys. The matter of entering has been delayed for quite a time now and it is doubtful if they will be allowed to enter. Several of the boys would pay their own expenses, it is said, if they were permitted to enter.

Irony Is Shown Again

The Sunday crowd was of gratifying proportions. Bleacherites were out in plentiful numbers and rooted valiantly for victory, but many of the once-a-week fans were denied the privilege. It was the irony of fate to lose before the Sabbath gathering after winning 10 in a row.

Team Home Till Friday

Four games with Lexington and the present home series will be concluded.

Portsmouth will openl a four game stay in Charleston next Friday. The team will then return home and play four games with Frankfort, two taking place on Memorial Day.

Not A Woman Fainted, Not A Horse Ran Away, No One Was Injured When First Cars Ran

The following interesting account of the opening of Portsmouth's first electric street railway system was taken from "The Weekly Times" of November 18, 1893, the celebration of the opening having taken place the preceding Thursday:

"Clang!"

"Z-z-z-t!"

"There they go!"

"Ain't they beauties?"

"Well I should remark!"

"Lowell!" "Edna!" "Kanawha!" "Pauline!"

"Now we have an electric railway and a good one. We have cars, and they are butes. We are all happy, more or less.

"Those who said the street cars wouldn't be running by Thursday, November 16, and that probably we wouldn't have them at all, and that the whole thing was a dream, or a barren ideality more or less damned, didn't know what they were talking about. We got there, with the whole clam bake. We saw the 'wheels go round,' and saw the motor mote. The gong clanged, the trolley sizzed, the band played and in the language of the poet, we had a h-- tha is to say, we enjoyed ourselves very much."

"Thursday the program was carried out about as published. The band went to the power house and took possession of one car, and at one o'clock all of the cars, with the officials of the road and all others who wanted to ride, arrived at the Upper Market Square, and there exercises were carried out according to the card. The weather was cold. The band played. There were speeches that no one cared to listen to save out of respect for the speakers, for the crowd was cold and impatient, and wanted to see the cars move.

The first trip was made up principally of invited guests, city councilmen, newspaper reporters and other great men. The cars moved rapidly to the lower end of the route, amid an admiring throng, for all the world the same as if they had been running all the time—the same as if they were in Columbus or Chicago. It reminded one of Columbus or Chicago—particularly Chicago. Not a horse shied or a woman fainted.

Nobody was run over, and there was no hitch or jar. On the return the cars were shifted at Market street, so as to get the band in the lead. That was the time a picture should have been taken. We hope some of our photographers were there, so that some one got a shot with a kodak. They continued to run all of the afternoon and carried passengers free.

The cars were a surprise to everyone, from their large size and beautiful finish. They are a deep glossy blue, with silver pencilling. Each car seats twenty-four persons, two in a seat. An aisle runs through the center, the same as a coach on a steam railroad. There can be no crowding, for when the seats all have two persons in them the car is full. There is a highly ornamental electric heater. At night the cars are brilliantly lighted by an incandescent light. Two of the cars were named respectively "Lowell and Kanawha" and the other two are called "Edna" and "Pauline" out of compliment to the fair young daughters of George Davis and Harry S. Grimes, stockholders and hustling officers of the company.

CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR IRONTON'S WATERWORKS

Ironton, May 22.—The city board of control consisting of Mayor Hannan, Directors Ridgeway and Ryan, met Saturday afternoon and after a thorough canvass of the bids recently submitted for the new waterworks system with the engineers, J. F. Witmer Co., the board entered into contracts with the following certain divisions of the water works system:

The contract of constructing the reservoir was awarded to the Merydeth Construction Co., of Marietta, Ohio. The bid was $79,617.

The contract for constructing the brick pumping station, pumping wells, intake, etc., was awarded to the Foundation Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa. The amount of the bid was $70,287.70.

The contract for the construction of the filtration plant was awarded to the New York Constructural Filtration Co., of New York. The amount of the bid is $103,357.

The contract for the filtration plant was awarded subject to approval of the state board of health and the construction engineers, Messrs. Witmor and Watson, and the contractor go to Columbus today to see the board of health and secure the approval of that body of the plans.

The Foundation Co., and Merydeth Co., were each placed under bond of $40,000 to secure the faithful performance of the contract.

The New York Constructural Filtration Co. was placed under bond of $50,000.

These companies will begin the work of construction of the new plant as soon as they give their bonds which must be given within ten days, and after the approval of the bonds by the board of control.

The Opening Of The Ohio Valley Traction Line

Marks an important epoch in the history of Progressive Portsmouth. It makes the good people of Sciotoville and Wheelersburg our next door neighbors. We will all become better acquainted and better friends.

It means more business for Portsmouth merchants and I hope to deserve my share. If good, dependable merchandise, reasonable prices and courteous treatment will get it then the residents of the growing towns traversed by the new tracion line will not overlook my store.

The French merchants of Paris first tasted snails when visiting the vineyards of Burgundy for wine. They brought the first baskets of them to Paris by coach from Auxerre. More Traffic Rule Violators Are Up Before Mayor Kaps

P. E. Selby, Dan W. Conroy, Tom Brushart, Charles Horr and John Reitz faced Mayor H. H. Kaps Monday morning in answer to complaints filed against them by the fire chief and safety director.

The complaints were to the effect that the above named had driven their automobiles over fire hose at the Albert Maier fire Saturday evening. The parties indulged in pleasantries while in the ante-room before the opening of court. Mr. Conroy accusing Mr. Selby of "bootlegging" in Blackberry alley, while the latter charged Dan was guilty of "shooting craps" in Paradise Alley. While affidavits had been prepared, the mayor did not use them, simply acquainting the accused with the nature of the complaints and reading the law to them.

"I'm not guilty, if your honor, please," pleaded Mr. Conroy. Mr. Horr also pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Conroy contended that by considerable difficult twisting, he had managed to avoid running over the fire hose and said he knew the law too well to be caught attempting any such thing. He asked the names of the court's informants, but the mayor preferred not mentioning them in court.

Mr. Horr proved to be the victim of mistaken identity, for he had put his machine away at 5:30 o'clock and never left the house the remainder of the evening.

Mr. Selby acknowledged his guilt, saying he had driven over the hose thoughtlessly and felt that it did not harm hose to drive over it when the pressure was on.

The others acknowledged their guilt. The mayor classed their act as a technical one, and simply dismissed them with the request that they be more careful in the future.

Frand Jordan, who had been ordered in for driving his machine on the wrong side, as he was going east on Eleventh street, Monday morning, was dismissed with a warning and furnished with a copy of the traffic ordinance. Max Trende has also been ordered in for driving on the wrong side of a street.

Not Guilty.

Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge leaned languidly over the top rail of his fence and gazed pensively at a hog lying in the road. A motorcar came skallybooting down the hill and ran over the recumbent porker. Something went wrong with the mechanism. The car swerved from the highway, plunged down into a considerable hollow and landed wrong side up with the occupants unconscious beneath it. Mr. Johnson presently strolled over and looked calmly down into the pit. "Say," he finally called, "you folks don't have to hide under there. That hog was dead when you hit it. The last automobile along killed it, and the feller paid for it."—Exchange.

May Day Pageant Splendid Success; It May Become An Annual Affair

That the people of Portsmouth are manifesting an active interest in physical educational work was forcibly shown Saturday afternoon at the May Day pageant held on the Children's Home grounds. Fully 500 people crowded the grounds to view the beautiful and extraordinary program of just what is being accomplished by Miss Edith Brittain, directress of physical educational work in the high school and Y. W. C. A. The pretty spectacle was pronounced by all present as being the best entertainment of its kind ever presented before an audience in the Peerless City.

Everyone taking party anxiously looked forward to the May Day celebration and the success which attended the pageant Saturday will probably mean that Portsmouth will have a like affair each year. Moving pictures were taken of every phase of the program and will be shown at the Columbia theatre and later in many of the larger cities.

Music as accompaniments for the marches, drills and dances was furnished by Mrs. Clarence Nodler presiding at the piano and Miss Alice Blake, violinist.

The pageant formed at the northwest corner of the grounds. Several blasts by Howard Lowry, trumepeter announced the starting of the march. The pageant was headed by Mildred McAfee as May Queen, with Dorothy Varner as maid of honor; Pauline Grimes, crown bearer, Alan Jordan, Jr., attendant; and Mildred Brown, train bearer. Closely behind marching two by two came the numerous other participants dressed in their many varied costumes. The line of march was around the knoll in view of every person in the crowd. On reaching the starting point, all except the May Queen and her party formed in two lines from the foot of the knoll to the beautiful throne located on the top of the knoll beneath the lowering branches of two small leafy maples. The throne of white and yellow was beautifully decorated with large yellow flowers. The May Queen and her party walked between the two rows to the throne where she knelt and was crowned. As soon as the May Queen was seated an order was issued for the festivities to begin before the Queen. The first number was the wreath dance by young ladies in pink frocks carrying wreaths of roses. The Scotch dance and Irish jig with the girls dressed in the native costumes were next on the program. The waltz caprice was followed by the May pole dance, the young maidens stepping lightly to the sweet strains of music as they tripped around the May pole with its numerous streamers of white and yellow. The solo dance by Mildred Brown was one of the features of the afternoon, the young miss being a very graceful dancer.

The Dutch dance by girls dressed in frocks of yellow and red, the only detail of the Dutch costume lacking being the wooden shoes, was splendid. The eighth number was by girls robed in loose white frocks and was entitled "Greek Maidens Playing Ball."

The Indian dance by a large number of small girls dressed in Indian suits was very good, and made a big hit. The final number and one of the best on the program was the Spanish dance by ten young ladies dressed as Spanish girls, who tripped lightly on the lawn before the May Queen.

The entire program proved very entertaining and Miss Brittain received many compliments on the success of the pageant. Every phase of physical educational work was plainly presented and received the hearty approval of all present. The Boy Scouts aided greatly in keeping the crowd back from the knoll.

County Sunday School Assoc. To Be Formed

Conrad Roth, Will Hazlebeck, Dr. S. D. Ruggles, T. H. Jones, Rev. B. B. Cartwright and W. W. Gates, the committee recently appointed to make arrangements for a county Sunday school association, held a meeting Sunday afternoon at the Second Presbyterian church. It was decided to go ahead with the plans for organizing a county association, but no exact date for a meeting could be set until further word is received from M. G. Baily, secondary division superintendent of the Ohio Sunday School association. Mr. Baily has been asked to send several state workers here to assist in the organization of an association, and as soon as word is received from him a date will be set for a county meeting.

"THE FACT THAT A SOLDIER IS ALIVE AND FAIRLY WELL FIFTY YEARS AFTER WAR'S CLOSE IS GOOD CHARACTER CERTIFICATE"

Members of Bailey Post No. 164, G. A. R., were honored guests of George D. Selby's Sunday school class of Bigelow Methodist church Sunday morning.

In welcoming the veterans of the civil war, Mr. Selby said that he was glad to see so many of those who had "recruited in '61" there. He expressed beautiful tribute to those living, when he said that he was sure those present had lived temperate and good lives and had not fallen to the level of the vices that sometimes follow in the wake of an army in their younger days, for if they had done so, they would have not been so well preserved.

Mr. Selby said that it was usually the dissipated and weak that suffered in old age while those who led a temperate life enjoyed the "sunset of life." He added that the fact that a soldier was alive and walking about fifty years after the close of a war was in itself a pretty good certificate of character.

After the lesson had been discussed with considerable interest, the class was formally closed and those of the veterans who were not affiliated with other churches were cordially invited to attend Bigelow church. They were all also asked to attend the morning services.

Upon a motion presented by Comrade W. W. Donaldson, it was decided that the entire Post should attend the church services.

LIFE OF SAVAGE TRULY SENSIBLE

Ailments Almost Unknown by Aborigines Are Common Now

The theory that most of the ailments of today are caused almost entirely by those habits that distinguish the white man from his long ago brother ,the savage, is more widely discussed every day.

The savage, in many ways, was a more sensible being than the man who made war on him and then seized his birthright. It has been said, by medical authorities, that nine out of ten cases of sickness can be traced to a disordered stomach, and that the ailments are due, in a large measure, to excessive eating and drinking and to little healthful outdoor exercise.

Common sense should be used in our mode of living. It was with this end in view that Joseph Von Trimbach, the noted chemist and originator of so many health aids, gathered herbs, roots, barks and flowers from the most remote parts of the world and spent years of his life in experimenting and study before he arrived at the solution of the problem of relieving stomach troubles. He named his discovery Tanlac. Tanlac has met with instant favor wherever it has been introduced. It has created a romance in the business world. Hundreds of thousands of sufferers have realized the benefits of this great reconstructive tonic.

Tanlac is believed to act more favorably because of the nature of its ingredients, on ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and on catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, which, when neglected ,are so often communicated to the vital organs themselves, than any other known preparation. This ideal reconstructive tonic, appetizer ,invigorant and builder of tissues has been lauded by men and women in all walks of life. It has proved a boon for sufferers from those all too common ailments.

Tanlac now is being especially introduced in Portsmouth at the Fisher and Streich pharmacy where the Tanlac man explains its merits and the results which may be expected from its use.

Dr. Edwards'

STRENGTH TONIC

This Tonic which Dr. Edwards recommends is designed to restore strength to the weak, strength to the muscles, strength to the mind and strength to the nerves.

It is given to restore to the blood that rich red color which every weak and run-down person must have before he can get well and strong.

That Natural Ruddy Color

Of good health is absent in cases of thin, weak and run-down patients. Their cheeks, lips and eyelids lack that normal blood tint; and the feeling of well being is not with them. Dr. Edwards' Strength Tonic restores the color to the blood, drives away that sickly greenish pallor of the complexion and supplies fuel for the vital fire in weak and thin people.

Nervous Patients

Dr. Edwards says patients are nervous because they do not have enough rich, red blood to feed the nerves. So he made this Tonic to give the blood just what it needs for that purpose.

Sugar Coated Tablets

Dr. Edwards has his Tonic put in a sugar coated tablet so it will be pleasant to take and will not injure the teeth. Pale, thin, weak and run-down people contract diseases more frequently than well ones. They are liable to have Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Brigat's Disease, Nervous Dyspepsia, Insanity, Fevers and Consumption.

Don't Have These

Why not put yourself in shape not to have these diseases by letting Dr. Edwards' Strength Tonic help you out of your nervous and run-down condition? It will build you up right from the start by increasing your appetite, toning up the nervous system, enriching the blood and increasing your vital force. For sale by your druggist.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony troubles, woos, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

Dear Miss Wise.—I would like to be a telephone operator. Is it possible that I could put in three or four hours every evening to learn all about the work, or would they accept girls that way? How old do girls have to be? I am past eighteen years old. Please advise me. HELLO GIRL.

Apply to the manager of the Bell Company, corner Gallia and Gay, and also at the Home office on Seventh street.

Dear Miss Wise:—When a person receives an invitation to the commencement exercises of the Holy Redeemer school do they have to pay admission to attend? Should I tell the person that I received the invitation or write it or do either? When should the present be presented to the graduate? Should it be sent to her or should I take it to her? What would be nice and inexpensive?

W. W. M.

An invitation will not admit you to Holy Redeemer commencement. Tickets are 35 cents, this also includes a reserved seat. You need not acknowledge receipt of the invitation. If you give a present you can have it delivered or else deliver it yourself. I cannot offer any suggestions, not knowing how much money you want to put in a present. However there are ever so many pretty and inexpensive things advertised in the Times. The local show windows and stores are also full of appropriate gifts. Go around and have a look.

Dear Miss Wise:—Have written once before but no reply in the column. Will write again. If a husband dies and has no children to whom does his estate fall. Who are the nearest heirs? If his wife remarries and can she sell property and dispose of the money as she pleases or if money and property is in his and her name is it all hers or how? I would like to know in next paper.

YOUR TRULY READER.

I answered your question one night last week. If a husband dies without a will, his wife inherits his entire estate if there are no children. If his widow remarries she will get the estate just the same. As a rule widows do not marry for a year or two after their husband's death, and the estate will probably be settled up before that time.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me on what date was Easter, 1911?

BEN.

April 16th.

Dear Miss Wise:—Please tell me how I can clean an awning. We have a defective water spout and it leaked all over the awning. It is almost new and I hate to have to throw it away.

MRS. HILLTOP.

Why not send it to the laundry? Of you might try scrubbing it with soap and water. Use a good stiff brush.

Dear Dolly—Is it proper for a young lady 20 years of age to take a walk with a man after she has danced with him all evening?

MABEL.

If you step lively and walk towards home it might be all right. I should think after you have danced all evening you would be too tired to do much walking. People found loitering on the street late at night will be arrested.

How To Remove Stains

When white oil cloth is stained by coffee, try rubbing with common baking soda.

To rub tea stains from cups, use common baking soda, rubbing with damp cloth.

Fruit Stains—Pour boiling water through, or use alcohol.

Chocolate or Cocoa—Wash in cold water, then pour boiling water through.

Blood—Soak in cold water or in water with salt. When stain is nearly gone, use soap and water, or starch paste.

Mildew—If fresh, wet in strong suds cover with paste of salt and soap, and put in sun.

Ink—If stain is fresh, allow the part stained to stand in milk. For an old stain, wet with cold water, then immerse stained part in diluted solution of oxalic acid; remove, rinse in ammonia water.

To remove ink spots from clothing wet spots with milk, sour is best. Rub a piece of leman on some salt and rub this on the spot a few times. A few applications will bring required results.

Clip this out and keep in a handy place.

Meet Me At Nye's Fountain. 12tf

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Richards Fowler and Mr. Chauncey Bovins Smythe, which took place in Ironton Saturday evening, will be of interest to many of the young people in Portsmouth, as follows:

"Many delightful festivities prepared the way for the culmination of the glad event of Saturday evening, toward which Ironton society and the society of nearby cities have looked forward to with increasing interest.

"The First Presbyterian church was crowded with a brilliant assemblage of friends ready to welcome the coming of the bride and groom, Miss Elizabeth Richards Fowler and Mr. Chauncey Bovins Smythe. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fowler, of this city. She is a young woman possessing a natural charm and manner and is endowed with the gifts of culture and a loveable personality. She has received the advantages of the best schools of the East and has profited by their educational and social environment. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Smythe, of Elyria, Ohio, and is associated with his father in a large plant for the manufacture of machinery.

"The church was decorated in a stately simplicity such as was observed throughout the wedding; the pulpit and platform were hidden in a wealth of verdure and white Easter lilies. Lighted candles cast a soft radiance about the pulpit frontal. Before the appointed hour Miss Clark at the organ played appropriate airs from "The Wedding Suite," by Dubois and accompanied Mrs. F. A. Bixby as she sang beautifully these selections: "What's in the Air Today," "My Dear Love" and "I Love You Truly."

"The bridal procession entered to the strains of the "Lohengrin" bridal music, the maid of honor and the bridesmaids entering by the north aisle and the ushers, Mr. Bowen, Mr. Brooks, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Barbour from the south door. The bride was arrayed in an exquisite gown of white taffeta. Her tulle veil held by a coronet of orange blossoms fell to the edge of the court train. The bridal bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley. Little Misses Katherine Horschel and Emily Lucy Clubertson, in fairy frocks and bows of ribbon, carried in the wake of the bride baskets of sweetheart roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Fowler, as maid of honor, who wore a lovely gown of flesh pink and orchid shades.

"The maids were the closest friends of the bride: Mrs. Jacobs, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Kneisley, of Cleveland; Mrs. Knippenberg, of Muncie, Ind.; Miss Marie Overstreet, of New York. They were dressed quite alike in a pretty deference to the bride's colors of pink and orchid. They carried pink sweet peas tied in orchid ribbons.

"The groom, attended by his brother, Mr. Alan Smythe, as best man, came forward to meet his bride, who entered with her father. The wedding party was grouped in a semi-circle beneath arches of honey-suckle. Rev. E. B. Townsend officiated impressively, as from the organ floated the soft music of love melodies.

"Following the ceremony a large reception was held in the Elks' parlors, which had been transformed into a bower of flowers. The walls were festooned in evergreens, which were draped from the corners across the entire length of the parlors, making the scene one of beauty, flowers and fashion, as displayed by the many attractive toilettes worn by the wedding guests. Here amid the profusion of flowers, upon the bride and groom were showered the congratulations of a large number of friends. In the center of the bride's table was placed a Marie Antoinette basket filled with Killarney roses, the tall handle was tied with a bow of pink and orchid tulle. The table was round and was lighted by branch candelabra. Upon hand-painted place cards were miniature brides. A feature of the supper was the progression of the bridal party about the table at the close of each course, which caused much merriment for all. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Smythe, Miss Katherine Fowler, Mr. Alan Smythe, Miss Marie Overstreet, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Knippenberg, Mrs. Kneisley, Miss Louise Crawford, Mr. Bowen, Mr. Brooks, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Barbour and Mrs. Greenleaf, Caterer Winters served the delicious four-course supper at long tables, radiating from the bride's table. Roses and sweet peas were used in lavish profusion.

"After the supper the tables were quickly cleared and the splendid orchestra furnished music for dancing throughout the later hours.

"The gifts to the bride and groom were magnificent and varied. These will adorn the home of the bride and groom in Elyria, Ohio, and will bring to them through the years a sweet remembrance of the friends.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smythe left Saturday evening on the C. & O. for Washington, D. C., and from there will visit eastern points."—Irontonian.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms, of Oak Hill, returned home Saturday after a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Samuel Evans, of Twelfth street.

DID THIS EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

Wife—Harry dear, that parlor floor must be fixed up, it just looks awful, the paint is all scratched off, and just makes me sick every time I look at it.

Harry—Why, that's easily done, Mary, just telephone Flood & Blake for some Chi-namel and I will put it on this evening.

PORTSMOUTH AS A TRADING CENTER

With the opening of the Ohio Valley Traction line, Portsmouth should become the ideal trading center for those people whose territory is traversed by the new line.

Portsmouth merchants have long been recognized as wide-awake, progressive and obliging. In fact no better merchants exist than to be found in the Peerless City. Their stores are well kept, their wares selected with care, while the prices they ask are in keeping with the character of their stock.

For years the good people of Scioto ville and Wheelersburg have been doing their trading in Portsmouth. But in many instances the buying has been done under difficulties, over which the people in the two villages had no control.

The chief obstacle was the roads, which at certain seasons of the year became almost impassable. Happily this defect has been remedied, and it is now possible for a person to drive entirely on brick highways from Scioto ville to the extreme west end of the city. Before this year comes to a close, it is hoped to have the main road paved as far east as Wheelersburg, making not only a pleasant drive, but making it possible to cover the distance by horse drawn rig in one-half the time required before the paving was done.

But with the traction line in operation, there will be no excuse whatever for Scioto ville and Wheelersburg people not trading with Portsmouth merchants. The traction line as a connecting link holds out facilities that will make it possible for Scioto ville and Wheelersburg residents reaching the Peerless City in almost the same space of time as it requires for one to travel from the west corporate limits of the city to the corporation line on the east. The conditions of the weather will offer no obstacle now, for the new traction cars are built along the latest improved lines. They will be warm in winter and cool in summer. The type of car to be used has been approved by traction magnates and is being used on all the best equipped traction lines in the country. They are built long, are well balanced, roomy and sanitary, making travel a pleasure.

The business men of Portsmouth have all along contended that the only thing to make Portsmouth the best city of its size on the map was traction lines. They see in the opening of the Ohio Valley Traction line a fulfillment of their dreams. This line, which traverses a thickly populated section, is bound to act as a feeder for Portsmouth. The traction line simply means that Scioto ville and Wheelersburg will be next door neighbors to Portsmouth—just as New Boston has been for years.

And that Portsmouth business men are alive to the value of the possibilities of the traction line, is shown by the eagerness of interest they have displayed in celebrating the first trip over the new line. For days and weeks they have talked of little else, and they will esteem it a great privilege to ride right into the hearts of the two villages on the east and meet the citizens of Scioto ville and Wheelersburg face to face.

The completion of the line comes at a most happy season of the year. Spring has just asserted herself and all nature is wearing her prettiest garb. Flowers are blooming, trees all leafed—making this the happiest and prettiest season of the year.

Fortunately the merchants are ready for the season. New fresh goods of every description are at the disposal of the buying public and our Scioto ville and Wheelersburg cousins can choose from a most wonderful selection of merchandise, direct from the best makers and built according to fashion's latest decree.

The merchants of Portsmouth have kept abreast with the progressive spirit of the Peerless City. Their stores are recognized as among the best in the state. They believe in quality merchandise and conduct business along such honest basis that a child can buy with the same security as men and women.

With the latch string of Portsmouth merchants hanging on the outside of the door with the best of trading facilities, with a square deal all around, there is no real reason why any mail order house should be patronized.

Three Fire Companies Called Out To Fight A West End Stable Fire

A stable belonging to Albert S. Maier, Fifth and Market streets was partially destroyed by fire Saturday evening. The loss was estimated at $600 by Mr. Maier and is fully covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Joseph Frantz and Ralph DeLotell, about eight o'clock and a general alarm was sounded. The Hilltop, the East End and the Seventh street companies responded.

The dense clouds of smoke and the crackling flames soon attracted several hundred people who watched the fight made by the fire companies.

The flames were confined entirely to the upper portion of the structure, which was used to store hay and straw. Before the streams of water were brought to play upon the blaze, it looked as if the building was doomed.

While the fire was raging at its height, Samuel Rodeliff found a small pony belonging to Pierce Frederick hitched to a stall directly beneath the seething furnace, tugging at its tether. He unfastened the halter and after some difficulty succeeded in leading the animal from the building. This was the only horse in the stable at the time.

Mr. Maier attributes the source of the fire to a spark from a passing train and says that the fire started in the hay loft. From the center it spread in both directions, traversing the entire length of the building.

The roof and upper portion of the structure were destroyed.

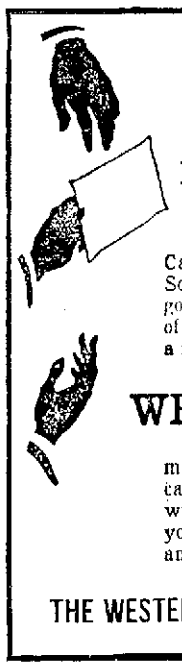

The fire was out at 7:56.

Parade Over City Streets Will Precede G. A. R. Celebration

Preparations are being completed for the second annual "G. A. R. Day" celebration which will be held Tuesday evening at the Portsmouth High School auditorium. The committee in charge is Gilbert F. Dodds, S. D. Eckhart and Harry Sickles. In arranging the programme and details, the committee has endeavored to make this surpass the celebration held last year which was a decided success.

The parade will form at Fifth and Court streets under the direction of Grand Marshal Frank B. Pratt and will move west to Market street; south on Market to Second street; east on Second to Chillicothe street; north on Chillicothe street to Gallia street, then east on Gallia street to the High School building.

The celebration is being held under the auspices of the Vienna Camp No. 26, Sons of Veterans, and it is requested by the officials of this organization that every member be at the hall, Gallia street at 6:45 o'clock Tuesday evening.

All of the patriotic societies in this city will join the parade and march to the auditorium, where they will assist in honoring those who fought in the greatest American strife.

The following gentlemen have kindly tendered their autos to the committee of Vienna Camp Sons of Veterans, in charge of arrangements for the big patriotic meeting at the High School auditorium tomorrow, Tuesday evening, to do honor to the living members of the Grand Army of the Republic. The autos will be used to take the old veterans and their ladies in the big parade, preceding the meeting. They are additional to the list published in the daily Times Saturday:

Moses Lehman, Geo. E. Kricker, Louis Schloss, Henry Winter, Ed J. Daehler, Alex Glockner, F. L. Martine, Harry E. Taylor, D. A. Alspaugh.

Only a few more needed. Call Harry M. Sickles, 60 Times office, or 93-R.

All autos to report with drivers at G. A. R. hall, Gallia and Findlay streets at 6:45 sharp. They will be in use about a half hour—just long enough to cover the line of march to the High School building.

Business Men Will Go To Wheelersburg On Four Special Cars

This afternoon, at four o'clock, the members of the Business Men's Association and the Board of Trade will formally open the new Ohio Valley Traction line between Wheelersburg and Portsmouth. The management of the company has placed four special cars at the disposal of the members of the two organizations. These cars will carry the members to Wheelersburg, where formal exercises will be held.

The opening of the new traction line between Portsmouth and Wheelersburg marks the beginning of a new era for the whole community. It places the citizens of Wheelersburg within close touch with Portsmouth and gives them frequent freight service for their produce.

Invitations to the members of the two organizations were mailed last week by the committee in charge: J. Arthur Bode, Charles Dachler and R. E. Thomas. Inclosed with the invitation was a small ticket which is to be presented on the car, after being signed by the possessor. The signatures upon the tickets will be used by the secretary to record the names of those who were on the initial trip.

There will be ample room for every member and all are urged to go.

The four cars will go west through the city about three-thirty o'clock, pass around the loop in the West End and stop at the Washington hotel. Promptly at four o'clock the trip to Wheelersburg will start.

Those in charge of the first car will be: J. Arthur Bode and Ben G. Harris; the second car, Charles Dachler and Albert Zoellner; the third car, W. W. Anderson and R. E. Thomas, and the fourth car, Albert Marting and William H. Burt.

The first car, or the pathfinder, will be gaily decorated with banners and posters. The River City band will be given space in this car.

Black and orange felt pennants, with the words, "Portsmouth, Ohio" in large letters will be given to each member.

The following stops will be made by the cars for members of the two associations:

Second and Chillicothe streets.
Fourth and Chillicothe streets.
Sixth and Chillicothe streets.
Ninth and Chillicothe streets.
Ninth and Offnere streets.
Eleventh and Offnere streets.
Eleventh and Lawson streets.
Gallia and Kendall avenue.
New Boston switch.

Norfolk and Western depot, Sciotoville.

At Sciotoville the party will make a detour and parade the streets of the village, headed by the crack River City band. Sciotoville members of the organizations will join the Portsmouth party. The parade will terminate at the piers of the new Chesapeake and Ohio Northern railway bridge, where the party will entrain and then continue to Wheelersburg.

A parade will be formed and will be headed by a few of the Wheelersburg business men. Behind this group will be the River City band, then the members of the business organizations. The school children of the village will form in the rear, but will deploy when Main street is reached, forming a double line, flanking the line of march.

The parade will march south on Main street to the Wheelersburg Methodist church and then countermarch to the Hartman hotel, where a warm luncheon will be served by the ladies of the Wheelersburg churches at a nominal charge.

The address of welcome will be delivered by Prof. E. O. McCowen, county superintendent of schools, and the response will be made by Judge George M. Osburn, this city.

The River City band will give a short concert, then the return trip will be started.

HOME IS ENTERED; BOYS ARRESTED

A trio of West End boys answering to the names of Clarence McCoy, Ed Huston and Rowly Adkins were arrested by Patrolman George Harding Sunday night for breaking into Andrew Payne's home on Market street during the absence of the family.

From what information Patrolman Harding could gather the McCoy boy entered the house and took an alarm clock, several pies and a few pennies. One neighbor thought that two of the boys had been inside of the house. Because of the youthful ages of the boys they were permitted to return home with orders to appear before Mayor H. H. Kaps Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN OHIO NEAR WATER WORKS

Encased in a dark coat with a light stripe running through it, a pair of corduroy trousers, a heavy woolen shirt and leather-lined shoes, the badly decomposed body of an unidentified floater was found in the Ohio river Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock.

It was discovered bobbing around on the surface of the water 50 feet from the Ohio shore near the water works plant above New Boston, by William Phillips and his cousin, Earl Phillips. They were towing a shanty boat with a launch when waves of the launch washed up the body. They immediately towed it to shore and Coroner Dr. Walter Dachler was notified. He examined the body and secured the testimony of the two men who found it. In the pockets of the dead man a small mirror, which had been broken, some buttons and a small knife were found. There were no marks on the man's clothing or among his effects that would lead to the identification of the victim.

On March 18 a roustabout named J. R. Ryan was drowned off a boat near Sciotoville, and the body may be that of Ryan. Ryan, it will be recalled, had just returned here from the United States Regular Army. Coroner Dachler stated Monday that he would make a determined effort to learn the identity of the victim. The body was interred Sunday in the burying ground of the county infirmary.

Wheelersburg Town Of Homes--Manufacturing Sites Plentiful

Great Future Predicted For Pretty Village On The "Banks Of Ohio River"

In the early days, when the vast northwest territory was being developed by a sturdy band of pioneers, the village of Wheelersburg was conceived and founded. Located in the heart of Porter township, this small community soon became alive with the activities of the settlers.

It was founded in the spring of 1820 and the village was first given the name of "Concord," perhaps in honor of that staid old town in New England, where the patriots of 1776 made their first gallant stand against England.

June 15, 1824, fourteen acres were sub-divided by Rev. Daniel Young and brother, John Young. It was surveyed and platted by Samuel Cole. Then two years after the survey was made, the name was changed to Wheelersburg in honor of Major Porter Wheeler, an early settler, a noted Indian fighter and a soldier of the war of 1812. Porter township, which was established by resolution December 6, 1814, was also named after this settler.

In 1822, Daniel and John Young erected a cotton factory at the corner of Broadway and Center streets, which was operated until 1835 when it was sold to Edward Cranston. This was the first factory in the village.

John Young was the first and only postmaster of Concord and was succeeded by Simon Cook, October, 1826, when the village became known as Wheelersburg.

The first school house was built in 1822 and John Young was the first teacher.

Wheelersburg of today is a village of several hundred people and is the thriving center of a rich agricultural and dairy producing country. Its rolling surface is flanked by wooded hills through which winds the broad bosom of the Ohio presents truly a beautiful scene.

It is a village of suburban homes. The improved highways; the new traction line and splendid train service, give the residents the advantage of varied transportation.

Then too, the natural environments of the village are such that unlimited sites for new industries can be obtained. It is characterized by members of the local Board of Trade as having "the finest manufacturing sites in the world."

As predicted by the business men of the Portsmouth-Huntington zone, this territory is destined to become the greatest industrial center in the United States. Then when this time comes and the contemplated improvements on the waterways tapping the resources of the Great Lakes are completed, Wheelersburg will be required to furnish the sites for these industries.

Not only is Wheelersburg an agricultural center but it is the home of new additions. Under the magical touch of the new era of prosperity its boundaries are being extended by leaps and bounds. New homes are being erected and subdivisions which have been opened around and about and it is believed that the opening of the new Traction line will put new impetus to this movement for suburban homes.

Pays Tribute To Brave Conductors

The St. Louis Republic has an article of interest here among the railroad people. The National Convention of Conductors is being held there now. The item follows:

"If ever a set of men has visited St. Louis whose enjoyment of their stay with us was fervently desired by every citizen, it is the railway conductors, whose national order is now in session here. And this for the very good reason that there is not one of us who has not often found himself, a stranger in a strange land, debtor to the patience, courtesy and kindly human interest of the railway conductor. They are the real missionaries of humanity, the real "friends of all the world."

"Many a boy remembers how, on his first trip from home alone, his father put him into the conductor's charge and that official came back after he had gone through the train and sat beside him and talked to him about the new bridge that was going in over the creek and the big grease spot in the cut where the milk train was wrecked on Tuesday before last. The conductor's was the last familiar face the boy saw as he left the train, and during his visit he occasionally stole down to the station, just to catch the glint of the gray eyes beneath the uniform cap and the wave of the masterful hand. He always felt less homesick after it. When he went to college the real homecoming began when he stepped aboard the train of the conductor who run through the home town. And when he had attained to man's estate and death had come into the family circle and he made an unforgettable journey in a strange and fearful companionship, it was the same conductor, with frost in his hair now but none in his heart, whose few offhand words and quiet helpfulness counted for so much.

"Let the citizen who is getting weak and wabbly on the brotherhood of man just look at the railroad conductor. He looks after the children, jokes the downhearted schoolgirl, courteously answers the same fussy old lady, three times between the water tank and the junction, rallies the lovers, decides the bet for the traveling men with the big diamond, talks politics with the candidate, baseball with the left fielder and a language not down in the books with the baby. Should he "quit the road" he might qualify as a chief of police, a foreign ambassador, an expert accountant or a master of ceremonies.

Nor should the freight conductor be forgotten. There wasn't anybody there to see, on that day after the big blizzard, when he attacked the problem of clearing the yards at the junction with the coal branch under the eyes of the superintendent himself. The "wye" was all snowed in, so that there was no place to turn a yard engine, and when the plows came by on the main line the cars on the passing track were covered above their roofs—but he and the Old Man cleared the yard, and the only reason why he did not become famous just on the strength of that one day's work was that Rudyard Kipling and Frank Spearman weren't there to see that the thing was reported properly.

"Here's to the conductors! Their calling is one of the best and most human things that the peculiar quality of American civilization has brought into this busy world. We hope they will feel as much at home with us as we have with them."

TORNADO WIPES OUT A TOWN

NINE KILLED: 38 ARE INJURED 3 HOUSES LEFT

Denison, Texas, May 22.—Nine persons were killed and 38 injured and Kemp City, Okla., eight miles east of Denison, was wiped off the map by a tornado, which last night swept a path three-quarters of a mile wide and five miles long in the Kemp City section. Only three small dwellings remain standing at Kemp City. Twelve business, two story hotel and 60 residences were demolished in Kemp City. This is the second time in recent years that the little town of 30 inhabitants has been visited by a tornado. Merchants said that the town probably would not be rebuilt.

Eight were killed in the town, while the other victim, a child was killed in the collapse of its father's home just across the Red River in Texas.

AMERICAN ESCAPES A DEATH SENTENCE

TRIAL OF PHYSICIAN ON CHARGE MURDERING FATHER-IN-LAW OPENS WITH MANY WITNESSES

New York, May 22.—Four alienists head the throng of witnesses gathered in the criminal branch of the supreme court today for the trial of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, the young New York dentist, sportsman and man-about-town, who is charged with murder in the first degree, in poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck, a wealthy manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich. Since he has confessed the deed, the prosecution believes that the defense will rely upon a plea of insanity. To combat this testimony the state has engaged three medical experts and summoned 115 witnesses who knew the defendant at different periods of his career, many of them to testify that his behavior in their presence had shown no signs of mental abnormality. The defense has summoned one alienist.

Probably the most interesting figures at the trial, however, next to the prisoner himself, will be his wife, Mrs. Clara Peck Waite, and Mrs. Margaret Horton, a young New York singer, with whom Waite occupied at times, a "studio" at an uptown hotel. Altogether, the state has subpoenaed 115 witnesses. Extra panels of 250 talismen have been summoned, and it may be a day or two before a jury is selected.

Mr. Peck, the alleged murder victim and his wife, came to New York shortly after Christmas of last year to visit their daughter and son-in-law. The second week in January Mrs. Peck became ill and on January 30 she died in the Waite's apartment. At Waite's suggestion her body was taken to Detroit and cremated. Because of this fact the prosecution sought an indictment against the son-in-law only in connection with the death of Mr. Peck, which took place March 12. The very day he was to be buried at Grand Rapids his son, Percy S. Peck, received from New York the following telegram:

"Suspicion aroused. Demand autopsy. Examine body.

(Signed) K. ADAMS."

The identity of "K. Adams" has not been revealed, but it is expected that it will come out during the trial. The telegram had the effect of starting an investigation which showed that Mr. Peck had been poisoned.

Waite's arrest followed shortly. He confessed that he had administered poison to both Mr. and Mrs. Peck. The death of the former was attributed to arsenic.

When you lose something leave it to TIMES WANT ADS to find it.

BLOCK HOUSES ARE TAKEN BY FRENCH IN AVOCOUNT WOOD

Paris, May 22.—French grenadiers occupied several block houses in Avocourt wood on the Verdun front in the course of severe fighting last night. The struggle west of Dead Man Hill was terrific. The war office statement of this afternoon says that the attacks of German infantry were repulsed.

The block houses in Avocourt wood were abandoned by the Germans. East of the Meuse infantry fighting occurred at the Haudromont quaries captured yesterday by the French. The Germans attacked these positions and, the statement asserts, were repulsed with heavy loss.

GETS 10 YR. SENTENCE

London, May 22.—Official confirmation was obtained today of the reports that a sentence of ten years in prison had been imposed in the case of Jeremiah C. Lynch, an American citizen, charged with having participated in the Irish rebellion. The American embassy received this information today from the military authorities.

Washington, May 22.—Ambassador Page at London today cabled the state department that he had been officially advised by the British government that Jeremiah C. Tobago and Tobacco.

It is now generally agreed that the word tobacco is derived from "tobago," which was an Indian pipe. The tobago was Y shaped and usually consisted of a hollow, forked reed, the two prongs of which were fitted into the nostrils, the smoke being drawn from tobacco placed in the end of the stem. The island of Tobago, contrary to the belief of many, did not furnish the name for tobacco, but, on the other hand, it was given that name by Columbus, owing to its resemblance in shape to the Indian pipe.—Philadelphia Press.

AUSTRIANS WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM ALBANIA REPORT OF DIPLOMAT

Paris, May 22—A neutral diplomat, who has just returned from Albania, is quoted in a dispatch to the Matin from Athens as saying that the Austrians have withdrawn 50,000 troops from Albania in the last three weeks. According to this diplomat, the Austrians have left only small detachments to guard the towns they have occupied, leaving a garrison of 300 at Fiera and 600 at Berat. The remainder of the troops left in the country are concentrated at Durazzo. The abandonment of the Albanian front is said to be due to the impossibility of bringing up supplies.

The statement that the Austrians are drawing their main forces from Albania apparently conflicts with recent dispatches from Athens and Paris, which stated that the Teutons were about to launch an attack in force against Avlona, the only town that remains in the possession of the Italians. On May 19 the Austrians were reported to have assembled a fleet of 150 transports at Fiume to transport troops and supplies to Durazzo.

Champs Lose First Extra Inning Game To Charleston, 5-3

Spencer's Team Had Three Run Lead Until Fatal Ninth; Senators Win In 14th Inning

JUST when it looked like that Portsmouth was about to chalk up its eleventh straight victory and blank the Charleston Senators at Millbrook Sunday afternoon before more than 1,000 fans one of those unaccountable slip ups made its presence felt and when the ninth had been concluded Charleston was on even terms with the Champs, each batting aggregation having amassed three runs in the regulation nine innings. But Portsmouth was through for the day while Watt Powell's men had just begun to play, the Senators winning out in the fourteenth inning, the game being the first extra inning game of the season in Millbrook.

After Henderson, who rescued Carpenter, had been put away by the Gauer-Spencer combination Costello, Curtis and Calhoun followed with hits and aided by a wild throw by Reeb two runs were scored and the game was ended as Portsmouth subsided peacefully in their turn at the bat in the fourteenth stanza. The fans were out to see the home boys win their eleventh game and when it was tossed away in the ninth after two men were down and nobody was on the sacks they felt that the tide had finally turned against Portsmouth. But ten games in a row is a "good deel" and no one kicked strenuously over Sunday's defeat.

For eight long innings Southpaw Reeb justified the faith reposed in him by his commander, Clues Spencer. Then a little wobble inserted itself and the jig was up. But the best of teams must lose now and then so Portsmouth chose Sunday as their day on which to end their winning streak.

Portsmouth scored one in the first inning. Dilts drew a walk and was moved up to second by Bauer's pretty sacrifice. Fisher then slashed a hit to left and Dilts scored. McHenry fanned and Costello tossed out Dilly with 3 and 2 on him.

Dilts opened the third with a triple to deep right. Bauer was thrown out by Daubert, Dilts scored while Daubert threw out Fisher. McHenry hit to Calhoun and died at first.

Portsmouth's last run came in the eighth. Bauer drew a walk and was forced by Fisher. The latter promptly stole second. McHenry lofted to Powell, but Dillhoefer lined a single through center and Fisher ran home.

Charleston had a look in the ninth with two down. Duffindaffer lined to Bush and Duffield [illegible] to Spencer and his toss to [illegible] covered first, beat Duffield [illegible]. Snell then batted for Carpenter and singled to right. Costello [illegible] walk and Curtis lined one to [illegible] scoring Calhoun who committed an error [illegible] Curtis and Calhoun scoring [illegible] was tied up. Calbert [illegible] for the third out.

Then the [illegible] battle was on. Twice Portsmouth had a runner on second but [illegible] to hit in the pinch and [illegible] pencer and Charleston finally [illegible] in the fourteenth on three hits [illegible] error. The box-score:

JUST GOSSIP

Lexington is here today for a four game series. It will be the first 1916 appearance of the Colts in Millbrook.

Dillhoefer caught another fine game, and he nipped two would-be pilferers.

Joe Bush had his first error of the season when he tossed wide to first base in the fifth inning.

Reeb certainly had Calbert's number. The big fellow was up seven times and failed to get a hit. He struck out twice.

Daubert robbed Spencer of a hit by making a brilliant stop of his sizzler. It also cut off a run.

Reeb was not as effective as usual, and he issued seven passes.

Demoe hurt his hand sliding into second yesterday. He received a very painful cut.

President Gableman was eminently pleased with the crowd. It was a fine turn out for a dark, cloudy day.

The fans questioned Umpire Crone's decisions on balls and strikes and they kept after him all through the struggle.

The visitors had all the pepper in the world when they tied it up. Up to the ninth they looked hopelessly beaten.

Carpenter and Henderson pitched fine ball. Henderson gets credit for winning the game as he went in with the score a tie, 3 to 3.

Snell was benched in place of Duffield, who caught a very ordinary game. The fans here kept yelling for Biddy Beers all through the Saturday game as Snell was off in his throwing, way off.

Calhoun is some first sacker. His work in the series closed yesterday stamps him one of the best in the league.

25,000 Fans Saw Game

More than 25,000 fans saw Washington beat Cleveland yesterday in the latter city by a score of 4 to 3. Johnson won his own game in the ninth when he doubled. Speaker was up four times and went hitless. Covaleskie and Bagby opposed Johnson.

LADIES DAY AT PARK

This is Ladies' Day and the fair sex will no doubt turn out in goodly numbers. There are many devotees of this town and many of them will be found in witness the Lexington-Portsmouth game today.

The Charleston Senators left early Monday morning for Frankfort, where they opened a four game series today. Manager Powell said his feelings were greatly eased over their victory Sunday. It came like a clap out of the blue.

Winning Streak Is Shattered

The winning streak has been shattered. But ten in a row is not so bad. Oh dear no.

Let's see what happened during these eventful days: Portsmouth scored 61 runs to her opponents 29, or in other words the Champs nicked the rubber 3 times every time one of the "Imimy" nicked it once.

The first victory was grabbed in Maysville on the day following the opening in that city. The score was 7 to 3. Then the team came home and beat Maysville 3 to 1 and 1 to 0. The Champs then hopped down to Lexington and beat the Colts four in a row, 8 to 3, 8 to 1, 7 to 2 and 3 to 2. The Spencer men then returned to Millbrook and beat the Senators three games, 9 to 3 and 7 to 4 and 8 to 1 before dropping Sunday's heart breaker.

Giants Still Going, Beat Redlegs Sunday

Cincinnati, May 22.—New York continued its winning streak by taking a decidedly one-sided contest from Cincinnati here Sunday, 11 to 1. All their runs and most of their hits were made in the first, seventh and eighth innings. Anderson pitched good ball. Griffith got a home run in the seventh, driving the ball to the center field fence. Fletcher was busy at short, accepting 11 chances without a fumble. Score:

NO, WE'LL PASS

Funny old game, this baseball pastime.

Catcher Snell was benched Sunday because of his mediocre work in the first three games the Senators played here. Sunday he was hurled into the breach as a pinch hitter and he started a rally that ultimately blossomed into victory for the visitors. Still he was a guard on the bench and sat there dejectedly until Powell motioned for him to grab his hickory stick and take a crack at one. He whaled a single into right and what followed is history. Canyou beat it?

Maurice Brigg's Track Team Copped Championship

Sturdy athletes of the University School of Cleveland, who are coached by Maurice Briggs of this city, recently won the annual triangular championship track meet held in Cleveland. Many of Cleveland's best track men were entered in the various events and the meet was full of interest. Many splendid records in the various events were hung up. University School piled up 71 points, East 53 and Central 17.

Two triangular records were broken, the one-half mile run by Downer, of University and the one-half mile relay by the University team. Petot, of University, equaled the 220-yard dash mark.

The showing the University athletes was in no small measure due to the splendid training methods employed by Mr. Briggs in handling his men. Briggs is regarded as one of the best all round athletes in Ohio.

Wants To Play In Atlanta

Al H. Bridwell is in Nashville trying to negotiate a deal whereby he will be permitted to join the Atlanta team in the Southern league. Briddy does not want to play in Nashville and according to word received here he will probably secure his release from the Nashville team.

UNCERTAINTY OF GAME SHOWN

A game is never won until the "finis" has been played out.

This was demonstrated Sunday most forcibly too. With the score of 3 to 0 in their favor, two out in the ninth, no one on the bases and two strikes on the batter the Senators pulled a belated and when the din ceased the Senatorial aggregation had tied up the score. They won out in the fourteenth. The odds were 20 to 1 on Portsmouth in the ninth, but a little slip up came and apparent victory was ruthlessly turned into sweet victory for the visitors. Oh ten straight isn't so bad.

Chicago.—Tom Seaton, former pitcher for the Brooklyn Federals, and now with the Cubs, is acquiring a reputation as a batsman. In a recent game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, Seaton relieved Pierce in the second inning, after Brooklyn had scored three runs, held the opponents scoreless for the remainder of the game while the Cubs tied the score in the ninth inning, and then started the tenth inning with a base hit and later brought in the winning run.

Lexington Colts Are Here For 4 Games With Champs

Manager Howard Guyn and his Lexington Colts trooped into town Monday for a four game series in Millbrook park, the first game to be staged at three today. These games will no doubt be bitterly contested as the Colts are out to atone for the four stinging defeats the Champs handed the them on their recent invasion of Lexington.

Biddy Beers, who formerly wore Portsmouth and Charleston uniforms is the first string catcher of the Colts, and his friends will be out to give him the glad hand this afternoon.

MAY ENTER BIG MEET

Ironton, May 22.—If Ironton H. S. can secure an entry in the All Ohio High school track meet at Columbus next Saturday, Coach Dixon hopes to enter Prosser, Brooks, Davies, Jones, Heald, McKee, Stoker and possibly others of the boys. The matter of entering has been delayed for quite a time now and it is doubtful if they will be allowed to enter. Several of the boys would pay their own expenses, it is said, if they were permitted to enter.

'rony Is Shown Again

The Sunday crowd was of gratifying proportions. Bleacherites were out in plentiful numbers and rooted valiantly for victory, but many of the once-a-week fans were denied the privilege. It was the irony of fate to lose before the Sabbath gathering after winning 10 in a row.

Team Home Till Friday

Four games with Lexington and the present home series will be concluded.

Portsmouth will open a four game stay in Charleston next Friday. The team will then return home and play four games with Frankfort, two taking place on Memorial Day.

VALLEE HAROLD AND HARRY E. TAYLOR, Editors.
GEORGE M. TAYLOR, Managing Editor.

THEN WHY NOT?

The Times has advanced few things that have met with such popular endorsement as the restriction of street fairs. Not a single person, so far, has expressed disapprobation, but scores and scores have heartily commended the paper for putting up the proposition to council, with the demand that undertakings, which have been allowed to become something of a nuisance, be strictly regulated to the improvement in general character and lessening in number. It will be a surprise to others, as it was to us, to have from even country people warm approval.

Thus having seemingly everybody in favor in limiting the visitations of these shows, there is no good reason apparent why council should not take the matter in hand at once and act upon it. All that can be said of the street fair is that it brings a few dollars into the coffers of some lodge or other, but, we are quite sure even the members of these, or the few that according to common rule are active in their affairs, will offer no serious objection, if giving a little consideration to the subject. They can find food for this in the police court reports during the periods of these alleged carnivals, which show they are that at least in the gathering and misconduct of the rough and the dissolute.

WORTH THE TRYING ANYWAY

Virginia has given West Virginia due and formal legal notice that on the 5th day of June of the present year, she will move in the supreme court for the issuance of a writ of execution so she may be able to collect the twelve million dollar judgment, which stands to her favor and against the latter on the records of the court.

Lawyers are puzzled how the execution is to run and figuring that maybe levy will be made upon the capitol building and state lands. May be this is a legal possibility, though much doubted, so we suggest that the best way out of the dilemma is for the court to appoint a receiver to conserve the income and resources of the debtor commonwealth. This would be a good thing all around, since it would enable the creditor to get his money, the state would not have the stigma of repudiating an honest debt and we might get a hint as to the right wrinkle in running a state. West Virginia if we may believe all the Democratic press thereof and half of the Republican, which makes a preponderance of the evidence, is making a disgusting and disastrous mess of running herself, taxes are going up and state paper down and the prospects are, unless some radical reversal follows, there will be other judgments heaped upon the twelve million one. A receiver might introduce both retrenchment and economy in operation, at least it would not seem necessary for him to keep at Charleston a constantly buzzing bevy of satellites and parasites, with no employment, except to "plug" for the administration; he could operate the commonwealth upon a purely business basis and treat her to the refreshing novelty of seeing public officials, who had a motion as though they had to do some work, before drawing their salaries, officials chosen for fitness and capability and not in recognition of party obligation. It is a situation we would rejoice to have the commonwealth come to just for the trial of the experiment.

The Philadelphia North American complains that some of those who have raised their voices for preparedness will be the first to send in frantic appeals to their congressmen for protection, should trouble come. Yes, indeed; and by the same token some of those who have clamored loudest for protection will be the liveliest in dodging the recruiting officer should war come.

The impression lurks about that this fight against the confirmation of Louis Brandeis as supreme judge would lack its intensity, if he were not a Jew, and had not often so ably set his talents to the confusion of "the interests."

Senator Stone advises this is the time for every man to hold his head, but since so many people have no heads, as it views them, the Houston Post supplements this with the injunction that every one do the next best thing and hold his tongue.

Tis true enough that the big mistake some people make is thinking they never make any.

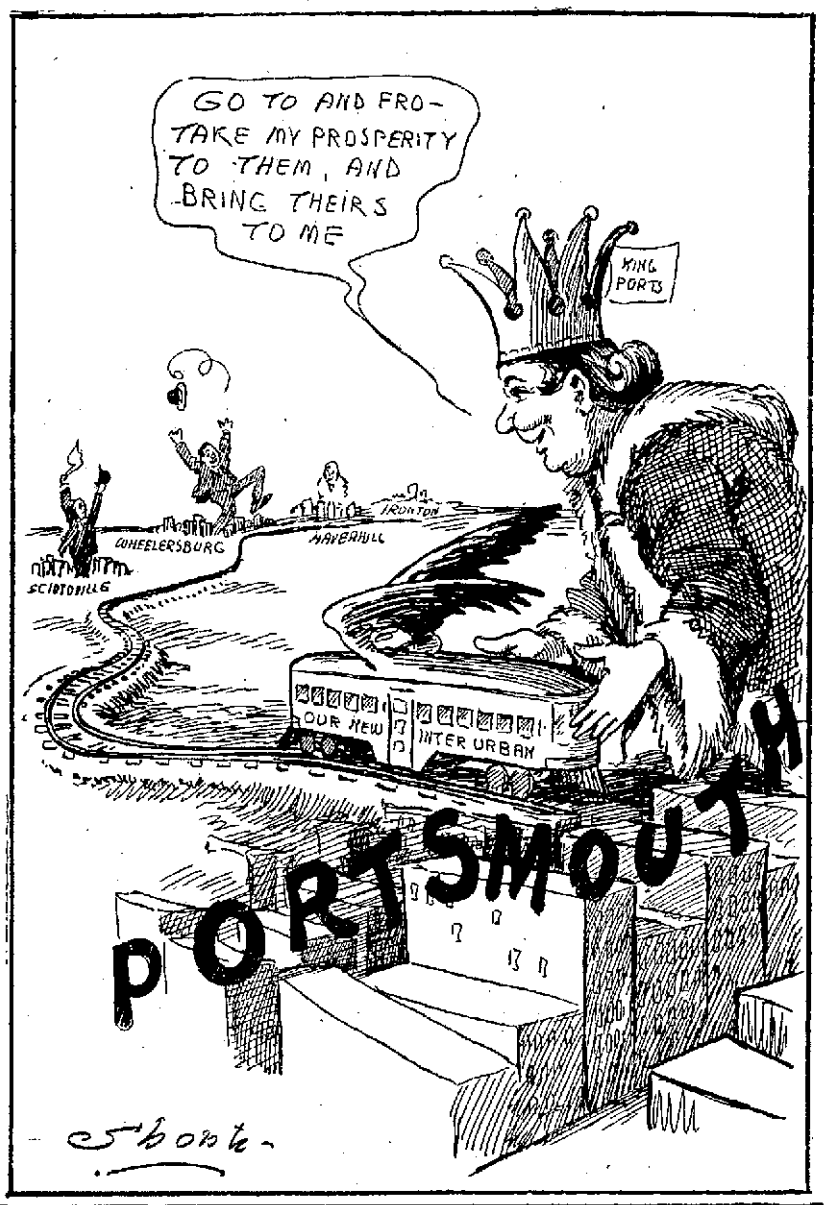

Just because everybody else is saying it, let us say that the traction service is a big thing for the Peerless. And think how we can swell when we go abroad and talk about our interurban cars.

Let's see. Let's see about that and concerning a Big Noise and a Big Stick as well. Wasn't it during the period when a certain omniscient and vigorous "I" was president that $100,000 was paid for the ransom of an American woman from the Kurds, Armenians, Turks, or some vermin of the earth?

The West Virginia Republican papers are running daily solid pages of editorial rot and the fun is that it is all about, of and concerning factional fights.

Uncle Joe Cannon says in this age of invention there should be discovered an elixir of youth and so far as he is concerned he wants somebody to hurry up and find it right away. Here a good many people will agree with Uncle Joe who never "hoped" with him before.

A HARBINGER OF PROSPERITY

TUBERCULOSIS

If you were told you had tuberculosis you naturally would feel depressed. Perhaps you would cry, or curse—depending on your temperament. Then you would think seriously.

Formerly the first thought was a change of climate, and visions would appear of that great, wide west, with high mountains and broad plains—a land of dry winds and bright sunshine, so destructive to the germs of consumption. But in that golden west, so blest with health-giving climate, there are many hardships for the invalid. Everything must be bought with a price, and there are many things needed in the desert country that money cannot buy.

To one accustomed to the green fields and fertile farms of the east, with its abundant rainfall, these dry, sandy plains of sage and cactus soon lose their attractiveness. Rugged mountains and painted canyons cannot for long replace the home surroundings, be they ever so humble. There will steal into the soul an uneasiness which no scenery can replace, and it requires a will more adamant than the very cliffs to conquer this restless longing for home and loved ones, so destructive to recovery.

Fortunately, it is no longer necessary that you go far from home. Many states have free sanitariums where you can be cured at little or no expense, and be within easy reach of friends.

The treatment of tuberculosis is reconstructive, rather than medicinal. It is hygiene, rest and diet, not drugs. Medicines alone are useless and serve only to assist the body functions, and if you are being wisely treated drugs will receive very little consideration. Let me repeat; medicines are almost useless in treating and curing consumption, except to relieve distressing complications.

Your ability to digest and assimilate foods will determine your recovery. Usually the digestive organs will perform the work well and good, provided you are knowingly advised by an expert in this line. If your doctor tells you he can cure you with medicines go immediately to another doctor. And let me say again, that medicines have failed utterly as a cure. Medical science has discovered no specific other than pure air and sunshine, along with nourishing foods and rest from physical exertion.—Julian Clarke, M. D., in Farm and Home.

Sir Edward Carson, who awhile back was not only preaching, but organizing revolution for Ulster, is now the busiest and loudest voice in the United Kingdom denouncing the Dublin rebels. And, to think, one step further and Sir Edward, instead of James Pearce, would have been stood up against a wall and shot.

The French at Verdun are reported tired but undismayed. We have an idea the game is one in which one may well grow aweary.

Let's give Mr. Carranza credit for at least being something of a philosopher. He is said to be quite agreeable to the fact that the United States troops are going to remain in Mexico yet awhile.

Japanese are being killed in the Chinese rebellion. That man Hobson will avow this is but another ruse of the wily Jap to get a half excuse to chew up the flowery kingdom.

We do hope Senator Smoot won't pass through this garden spot of the world enroute from Washington, D. C., to the Pacific coast on his hands and knees in the interest of the Roosevelt candidacy, while we are out of town, as we are extremely desirous of being there to bring pressure of the most powerful sort on his rear, as they say in the war reports.—Ohio State Journal.

England, Germany and France are said to want peace and to be sure they do. But the trouble is each nation wants it on its own terms.

Six thousand advertising writers are going to assemble at Atlantic City in convention and an effort is being made to have each one come in light, airy clothes. From our observation we should say women are garbing—if that's a proper term—themselves airily enough to strike an average.

Vegetation generally mighty slow in getting green, but it is scarce reasonable to charge that up to the scarcity of German dyes.

Willy Wood-Rat

BACK A LITTLE from the creek where Mr. Gater lived and spent his days, and plainly to be seen from the tree where Miss Chameleon lived, was another pile that looked for all the world like a pile of rubbish. Neat and round it was, though—perhaps too tidy appearing for a rubbish pile!

But it wasn't a rubbish pile—dear me, no!

It was the home of Willy Wood-rat.

You don't know Willy Wood-rat? Then listen, and I'll introduce you to him.

Willy Wood-rat is the most beautiful and stylish member of the rat family, and a very pleasant creature to know. He wears a soft, silky brownish gray coat and a vest of pure white. He has dainty white mittens made of soft fur that he pulls over his four little feet—do you wonder that he has the reputation of being the dandy of the rat family?

You will be glad to know that Willy, with all his fine clothes, is also good and kind. Finery does not turn his head—not one bit! He is quite the kindest and gentlest of all the rat family, and that's more important than being well dressed, isn't it? They say that kindness makes one better looking, and surely they must be right. For Willy Wood-rat has none of that sly, mean look in his face that makes us so afraid of most members of the rat family. He has a nice, good, kind look that just fits with his manners and his pretty clothes.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask?

He lives in it.

But he wouldn't call it a rubbish pile, for it is his nest, and he and Mrs. Wood-rat work very hard to make it just as fine as ever a nest can be. It takes nights and nights of hard work to make that pile. Do you wonder they are proud of it when it is finished?

First they choose the place where the nest is to be. Then they begin collecting twigs and grasses enough to make a pile two or three feet high.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask? He lives in it

When all that is done, they shape the nest and lay every twig and bit of grass just so, for the Wood-rats are as particular about their nests as they are about their clothes.

Last of all, they line the nest with a soft, downy lining of feathers or the covering of weed seeds till it is as fine and soft as a bird's nest. And there they raise their little family.

You would never guess from the look of the outside that the inside of that rubbish was so soft and beautifully made! Don't you think Willy Wood-rat a nice little fellow to know? And some day you shall hear more about him.

New York, May 22—At last some use has been found for a full growth of whiskers. Even when they are not parted in the middle. In the past the long heard or lace curtain style of whiskers have been regarded as the home and abiding place of germs, ticks and now and then a field mouse and also certain fauna indigenous to the land in which the owner of whiskers has his habitation.

But now another use has been discovered for the brush that surrounds the face of the care-free citizen who does not care what happens. Read on:

Isaac Goldman, of Bayonne, has a crop of foliage that reaches his waist when he unfurls them to the ozone. Business brought him to New York this last week. He was walking through Avenue C, when he encountered Frank Gallagher.

Gallagher later told his story to a police magistrate: "While I was walking my foot slipped or something; I don't know what. I stuck my hand out in the air to grasp at anything and my fingers closed on a bunch of whiskers. I found later they belonged to Goldman."

The magistrate, if he had a sense of humor, might have inquired: "Did Goldman yell 'Let 'er go Gallagher?'" But he didn't. He fined Goldman ten lovely dollars.

The headwaiter at Joel's, who acts as a savings bank for strolling players, has been left a fortune by the death of an uncle. The latter was a captain in the Austrian army and is said to have bequeathed his nephew $50,000. He will continue to headwait, however, for he says he enjoys nothing so much as watching actors eat. He says a lot of them eat regularly just like other folk.

Flash Alley celebrities are constantly running into the people known as the "How do you do-ers?" They are the individuals who will call actors by their first names in passing to impress whoever might be with them when as a matter of fact they never met.

The polite celebrities of course respond to the salutation and pass on thinking the face and name has slipped their memory. The other day a man came up and slapped Harry Fox on the back. "Hi Harry," he said, "how's every little thing?"

Mr. Fox looked him over, didn't recognize him and said so. "Don't remember me?" said the stranger. "Why I'm the man who wrote you two years ago that I was the champion coffee cake dunkler of Teaneck, N. J."

And then he walked away—leaving Mr. Fox wondering just who it was that had been kidded.

Bide Dudley tells a story of preparedness on Harry Meyers, a theatre treasurer. Meyers went out with the boys the other night and didn't get home until noon the next day. His mother was much perturbed but Meyers was expecting this and had his alibi. After the scolding he took a bottle of olives from his pocket and showed it to her.

"You are wrong to think I have been out with the boys, mother," he said. "See this bottle of olives? Well, I've been out in the country where all is beautiful and I picked these for you."

For the 20,000 delegates to the National Clubwoman's Biennial convention this week the New York committee will have ready 400,000 hairpins, 5,000 fans, 200 pairs of scissors, 10,000 pencils, 20,000 writing pads, 100 bottles of smelling salts and a barrel or so of pink and white face powder.

A chili con carne cafe has opened off Fifth Avenue for the social smart set. It is being patronized too. The dish is so hot that one patron suggested they serve a half dozen kerchiefs with each order.

Singing in the rain, robin?
Rippling out so fast
All thy flutelike notes, as if
This singing were thy last!

After sundown, too, robin?
Though the fields are dim,
And the trees grow dark and still,
Dripping from leaf and limb.

'Tis heart-broken music—
That sweet, faltering strain—
Like a mingled memeory,
Half ecstasy, half pain.

Surely thus to sing, robin,
Thou must have in sight
Beautiful skies behind the shower
And dawn beyond the night.

Would thy faith were mine, robin!
Then, though night were long,
All its silent hours should melt
Their sorrow into song.

Champs Lose First Extra Inning Game To Charleston, 5-3

Spencer's Team Had Three Run Lead Until Fatal Ninth; Senators Win In 14th Inning

JUST when it looked like that Portsmouth was about to chalk up its eleventh straight victory and blank the Charleston Senators at Millbrook Sunday afternoon before more than 1,000 fans one of those unaccountable slip ups made its presence felt and when the ninth had been concluded Charleston was on even terms with the Champs, each batting aggregation having amassed three runs in the regulation nine innings. But Portsmouth was through for the day while Watt Powell's men had just begun to play, the Senators winning out in the fourteenth inning, the game being the first extra inning game of the season in Millbrook.

After Henderson, who rescued Carpenter, had been put away by the Gauer-Spencer combination Costello, Curtis and Calhoun followed with hits and aided by a wild throw by Reeb two runs were scored and the game was ended as Portsmouth subsided peacefully in their turn at the bat in the fourteenth stanza. The fans were out to see the home boys win their eleventh game and when it was tossed away in the ninth after two men were down and nobody was on the sacks they felt that the tide had finally turned against Portsmouth. But ten games in a row is a "good deel" and no one kicked strenuously over Sunday's defeat.

For eight long innings Southpaw Reeb justified the faith reposed in him by his commander, Chas Spencer. Then a little wobble inserted itself and the jig was up. But the best of teams must lose now and then so Portsmouth chose Sunday as their day on which to end their winning streak.

Portsmouth scored one in the first inning. Dills drew a walk and was moved up to second by Bauer's pretty sacrifice. Fisher then slashed a hit to left and Dilts scored. McHenry fanned and Costello tossed out Dilly with 3 and 2 on him.

Dills opened the third with a triple to deep right. Bauer was thrown out by Daubert, Dills scored while Daubert threw out Fisher. McHenry hit to Calhoun and died at first.

Portsmouth's last run came in the eighth. Bauer drew a walk and was forced by Fisher. The latter promptly stole second. McHenry lofted to Powell, but Dillhoefer lined a single through center and Fisher ran home.

Charleston then cut loose in the ninth with two down. Coffindaffer lined to Bush and Duffield hit to Spencer and his toss to Reeb, who covered first, beat Duffield by a step. Snell then batted for Carpenter and singled to right. Costello drew a walk and Curtis lined one to left, Snell scoring. Calhoun then hit to Spencer, who committed an error on the roller, Curtis and Calhoun scoring and the game was tied up. Calbert lined to Fisher for the third out.

Then the extra inning battle was on. Twice Portsmouth had a runner on second but Dilts failed to hit in the clutch and likewise Spencer and Charleston finally won out in the fourteenth on three hits and an error. The box-score:

JUST GOSSIP

Lexington is here today for a four game series. It will be the first 1916 appearance of the Colts in Millbrook.

Dillhoefer caught another fine game and he nipped two would-be pilferers.

Joe Bush had his first error of the season when he tossed wide to first base in the fifth inning.

Reeb certainly had Calbert's number. The big fellow was up seven times and failed to get a hit. He struck out twice.

Daubert robbed Spencer of a hit by making a brilliant stop of his sizzler. It also cut off a run.

Reeb was not as effective as usual and he issued seven passes.

Demon hurt his hand sliding into second yesterday. He received a very painful cut.

President Gableman was eminently pleased with the crowd. It was a fine turn out for a dark, cloudy day.

The fans questioned Umpire Crone's decisions on balls and strikes and they kept after him all through the struggle.

The visitors had all the pepper in the world when they tied it up. Up to the ninth they looked hopelessly beaten.

Carpenter and Henderson pitched fine ball. Henderson gets credit for winning the game as he went in with the score a tie, 3 to 3.

Snell was benched in place of Duffield, who caught a very ordinary game. The fans here kept yelling for Biddy Beers all through the Saturday game as Snell was off in his throwing, way off.

Calhoun is some first sacker. His work in the series closed yesterday stamps him one of the best in the league.

STEEL PLANT WON GAME

The Steel Plant beat the Smoke House team 16 to 1 at Straus Park Sunday afternoon. The score:

Ankle Is Broken

The Huntington team certainly suffered a piece of hard luck Saturday when Kemper Shelton broke his ankle in sliding into second base. His absence from the Huntington lineup will greatly crimple this team.

25,000 Fans Saw Game

More than 25,000 fans saw Washington beat Cleveland yesterday in the latter city by a score of 4 to 3. Johnson won his own game in the ninth when he doubled. Speaker was up four times and went hitless. Coveleskie and Bagby opposed Johnson.

LADIES DAY AT PARK

This is Ladies' Day and the fair sex will no doubt turn out in goodly numbers. There are many favorites in this town and many of them will be on hand to witness the Lexington-Portsmouth game today.

The Charleston Senators left early Monday morning for Frankfort, where they opened a four game series today. Manager Powell put his fledglings were greatly elated over their victory Sunday. It came like a clap out of the blue.

Winning Streak Is Shattered

The winning streak has been shattered. But ten in a row is not so bad. Oh dear no.

Let's see what happened during these eventful days: Portsmouth scored 61 runs to her opponents 20, or in other words the Champs nicked the rubber 3 times every time one of the "inimy" nicked it once.

The first victory was grabbed in Maysville on the day following the opening in that city. The score was 7 to 3. Then the team came home and beat Maysville 3 to 1 and 1 to 0. The Champs then hopped down to Lexington and beat the Colts four in a row, 8 to 3, 8 to 1, 7 to 2 and 3 to 2. The Spencer men then returned to Millbrook and beat the Senators three games, 9 to 3 and 7 to 4 and 8 to 1 before dropping Sunday's heart breaker.

Giants Still Going, Beat Redlegs Sunday

Cincinnati, May 22.—New York continued its winning streak by taking a decidedly one-sided contest from Cincinnati here Sunday, 11 to 1. All their runs and most of their hits were made in the first, seventh and eighth innings. Anderson pitched good ball. Griffith got a home run in the seventh, driving the ball to the center field fence. Fletcher was busy at short, accepting 11 chances without a fumble. Score:

NO, WE'LL PASS

Funny old game, this baseball pastime.

Catcher Snell was benched Sunday because of his mediocre work in the first three games the Senators played here. Sunday he was hurled into the breach as a pinch hitter and he started a rally that ultimately blossomed into victory for the visitors. Still he was a guard on the bench and sat there dejectedly until Powell motioned for him to grab his hickory stick and take a crack at one. He whaled a single into right and what followed is history. Canyou beat it?

Maurice Brigg's Track Team Copped Championship

Sturdy athletes of the University School of Cleveland, who are coached by Maurice Briggs of this city, recently won the annual triangular championship track meet held in Cleveland. Many of Cleveland's best track men were entered in the various events and the meet was full of interest. Many splendid records in the various events were hung up. University School piled up 71 points, East 53 and Central 17.

Two triangular records were broken, the one-half mile run by Downer, of University and the one-half mile relay by the University team. Petot, of University, equaled the 220-yard dash mark.

The showing the University athletes was in no small measure due to the splendid training methods employed by Mr. Briggs in handling his men. Briggs is regarded as one of the best all round athletes in Ohio.

Wants To Play In Atlanta

Al H. Bridwell is in Nashville trying to negotiate a deal whereby he will be permitted to join the Atlanta team in the Southern league. Briddy does not want to play in Nashville and according to word received here he will probably secure his release from the Nashville team.

UNCERTAINTY OF GAME SHOWN

A game is never won until the string has been played out.

This was demonstrated Sunday and forcibly too. With the score of 3 to 0 in their favor, two out in the ninth, no one on the bases and two strikes on the batter the Senators pulled a belated rally and when the din ceased the Senatorial aggregation had tied up the score. They won out in the fourteenth. The odds were 20 to 1 on Portsmouth in the ninth, but a little slip up came and apparent victory was ruthlessly turned into sweet victory for the visitors. Oh ten straight isn't so bad.

The Navies and McDermott did not play as scheduled at McDermott, the Navies failing to show up. The game will likely be forfeited to McDermott. Instead the Navies played at Fullerton and were beaten by a score of 7 to 1.

The Yankees were also set down to defeat by Fullerton in their scheduled game at Coney Island. The Fullerton nine won by a score of 5 to 0.

On the City View grounds, Dry Run, the new entrant in the league won their first game by beating City View by a score of 13 to 7.

RESCUED BY POLICE

Huntington, W. Va., May 22.—Hartlinger lost an interesting game to Frankfort Sunday by the score of 5 to 4. Metz, a Cincinnati recruit, was hit timely by the old Taylors in three innings. The crowd rushed him, being incensed over a decision made at second, when Schwarz attempted to steal.

FORMER BROOKFED TWIRLER SHOWING WELL WITH CUBS

TOM SEATON.

Chicago.—Tom Seaton, former pitcher for the Brooklyn Federals, and now with the Cubs, is acquiring a reputation as a batsman. In a recent game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, Seaton relieved Pierce in the second inning, after Brooklyn had scored three runs, held the opponents scoreless for the remainder of the game while the Cubs tied the score in the ninth inning, and then started the tenth inning with a base hit and later brought in the winning run.

Lexington Colts Are Here For 4 Games With Champs

Manager Howard Guyn and his Lexington Colts trooped into town Monday for a four game series in Millbrook park, the first game to be staged at three today. These games will no doubt be bitterly contested as the Colts are out to atone for the four stinging defeats the Champs handed the them on their recent invasion of Lexington.

Biddy Beers, who formerly wore Portsmouth and Charleston uniforms is the first string catcher of the Colts, and his friends will be out to give him the glad hand this afternoon.

MAY ENTER BIG MEET

Ironton, May 22.—If Ironton H. S. can secure an entry in the All Ohio High school track meet at Columbus next Saturday, Coach Dixon hopes to enter Progler, Brooks, Davies, Jones, Heald, McKee, Staker and possibly others of the boys. The matter of entering has been delayed for quite a time now and it is doubtful if they will be allowed to enter. Several of the boys would pay their own expenses, it is said, if they were permitted to enter.

'rony Is Shown Again

The Sunday crowd was of gratifying proportions. Heartbreakers were out in plentiful numbers and rooted valiantly for victory, but irony of the once-a-week fans were denied the privilege. It was the irony of fate to lose before the Sabbath gathering after winning 10 in a row.

Team Home Till Friday

Four games with Lexington and the present home series will be concluded.

Portsmouth will spent a four game stay in Charleston next Friday. The team will then return home and play four games with Frankfort, two taking place on Memorial Day.

GEORGE M. TAYLOR, Managing Editor.

THEN WHY NOT?

The Times has advanced few things that have met with such popular endorsement as the restriction of street fairs. Not a single person, so far, has expressed disapprobation, but scores and scores have heartily commended the paper for putting up the proposition to council, with the demand that undertakings, which have been allowed to become something of a nuisance, be strictly regulated to the improvement in general character and lessening in number. It will be a surprise to others, as it was to us, to have from even country people warm approval.

Thus having seemingly everybody in favor in limiting the visitations of these shows, there is no good reason apparent why council should not take the matter in hand at once and act upon it. All that can be said of the street fair is that it brings a few dollars into the coffers of some lodge or other, but, we are quite sure even the members of these, or the few that according to common rule are active in their affairs, will offer no serious objection, if giving a little consideration to the subject. They can find food for this in the police court reports during the periods of these alleged carnivals, which show they are that at least in the gathering and misconduct of the rough and the dissolute.

WORTH THE TRYING ANYWAY

Virginia has given West Virginia due and formal legal notice that on the 5th day of June of the present year, she will move in the supreme court for the issuance of a writ of execution so she may be able to collect the twelve million dollar judgment, which stands to her favor and against the latter on the records of the court.

Lawyers are puzzled how the execution is to run and figuring that maybe levy will be made upon the capitol building and state lands. May be this is a legal possibility, though much doubted, so we suggest that the best way out of the dilemma is for the court to appoint a receiver to conserve the income and resources of the debtor commonwealth. This would be a good thing all around, since it would enable the creditor to get his money, the state would not have the stigma of repudiating an honest debt and we might get a hint as to the right wrinkle in running a state. West Virginia if we may believe all the Democratic press thereof and half of the Republican, which makes a preponderance of the evidence, is making a disgusting and disastrous mess of running herself, taxes are going up and state paper down and the prospects are, unless some radical reversal follows, there will be other judgments heaped upon the twelve million one. A receiver might introduce both retrenchment and economy in operation, at least it would not seem necessary for him to keep at Charleston a constantly buzzing bevy of satellites and parasites, with no employment, except to "plug" for the administration; he could operate the commonwealth upon a purely business basis and treat her to the refreshing novelty of seeing public officials, who had a motion as though they had to do some work, before drawing their salaries, officials chosen for fitness and capability and not in recognition of party obligation. It is a situation we would rejoice to have the commonwealth come to just for the trial of the experiment.

The Philadelphia North American complains that some of those who have raised their voices for preparedness will be the first to send in frantic appeals to their congressmen for protection, should trouble come. Yes, indeed; and by the same token some of those who have clamored loudest for protection will be the liveliest in dodging the recruiting officer should war come.

The impression lurks about that this fight against the confirmation of Louis Brandeis as supreme judge would lack its intensity, if he were not a Jew, and had not often so ably set his talents to the confusion of "the interests."

Senator Stone advises this is the time for every man to hold his head, but since so many people have no heads, as it views them, the Houston Post supplements this with the injunction that every one do the next best thing and hold his tongue.

'Tis true enough that the big mistake some people make is thinking they never make any.

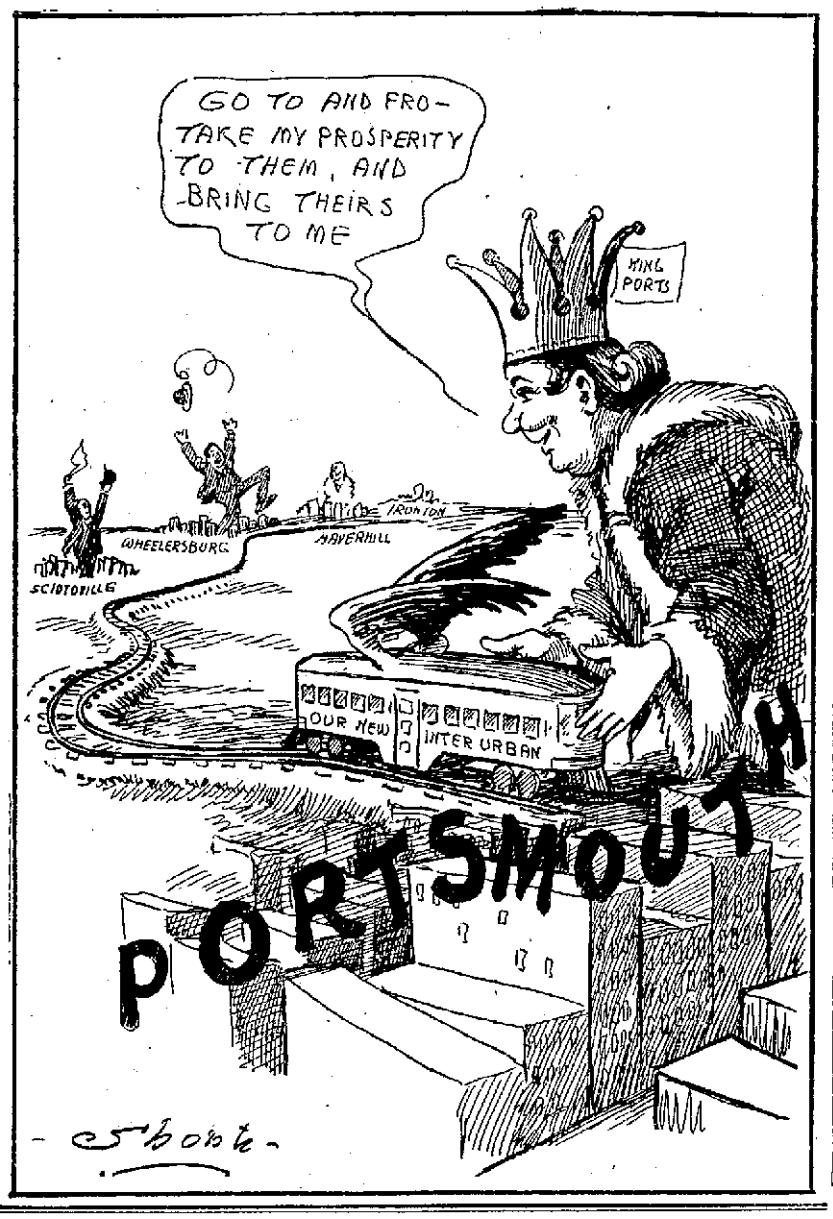

Just because everybody else is saying it, let us say that the traction service is a big thing for the Peerless. And think how we can swell when we go abroad and talk about our interurban cars.

Let's see. Let's see about that and concerning a Big Noise and a Big Stick as well. Wasn't it during the period when a certain omniscient and vigorous "I" was president that $100,000 was paid for the ransom of an American woman from the Kurds, Armenians, Turks, or some vermin of the earth?

The West Virginia Republican papers are running daily solid pages of editorial rot and the fun is that it is all about, of and concerning factional fights.

Uncle Joe Cannon says in this age of invention there should be discovered an elixir of youth and so far as he is concerned he wants somebody to hurry up and find it right away. Here a good many people will agree with Uncle Joe who never "hoped" with him before.

A HARBINGER OF PROSPERITY

TUBERCULOSIS

If you were told you had tuberculosis you naturally would feel depressed. Perhaps you would cry, or curse—depending on your temperament. Then you would think seriously.

Formerly the first thought was a change of climate, and visions would appear of that great, wide west, with high mountains and broad plains—a land of dry winds and bright sunshine, so destructive to the germs of consumption. But in that golden west, so blest with health-giving climate, there are many hardships for the invalid. Everything must be bought with a price, and there are many things needed in the desert country that money cannot buy.

To one accustomed to the green fields and fertile farms of the east, with its abundant rainfall, these dry, sandy plains of sage and cactus soon lose their attractiveness. Rugged mountains and painted canyons cannot for long replace the home surroundings, be they ever so humble. There will steal into the soul an uneasiness which no scenery can replace, and it requires a will more adamant than the very cliffs to conquer this restless longing for home and loved ones, so destructive to recovery.

Fortunately, it is no longer necessary that you go far from home. Many states have free sanitariums where you can be cured at little or no expense, and be within easy reach of friends.

The treatment of tuberculosis is reconstructive, rather than medicinal. It is hygiene, rest and diet, not drugs. Medicines alone are useless and serve only to assist the body functions, and if you are being wisely treated drugs will receive very little consideration. Let me repeat; medicines are almost useless in treating and curing consumption, except to relieve distressing complications.

Your ability to digest and assimilate foods will determine your recovery. Usually the digestive organs will perform the work well and good, provided you are knowingly advised by an expert in this line. If your doctor tells you he can cure you with medicines go immediately to another doctor. And let me say again, that medicines have failed utterly as a cure. Flash Alley celebrities are constantly running into the people known as the "How do you doers?" They are the individuals who will call actors by their first names in passing to impress whoever might be with them when as a matter of fact they never met.

The polite celebrities of course respond to the salutation and pass on thinking the face and name has slipped their memory. The other day a man came up and slapped Harry Fox on the back. "Hi Harry," he said, "how's every little thing?"

Mr. Fox looked him over, didn't recognize him and said so. "Don't remember me?" said the stranger. "Why I'm the man who wrote you two years ago that I was the champion coffee cake dunkler of Teaneck, N. J."

And then he walked away—leaving Mr. Fox wondering just who it was that had been kidded.

Willy Wood-Rat

Back a little from the creek where Mr. Gater lived and spent his days, and plainly to be seen from the tree where Miss Chameleon lived, was another pile that looked for all the world like a pile of rubbish. Neat and round it was, though—perhaps too tidy appearing for a rubbish pile!

But it wasn't a rubbish pile—dear me, no!

It was the home of Willy Wood-rat.

You don't know Willy Wood-rat? Then listen, and I'll introduce you to him.

Willy Wood-rat is the most beautiful and stylish member of the rat family, and a very pleasant creature to know. He wears a soft, silky brownish gray coat and a vest of pure white. He has dainty white mittens made of soft fur that he pulls over his four little feet—do you wonder that he has the reputation of being the dandy of the rat family?

You will be glad to know that Willy, with all his fine clothes, is also good and kind. Finery does not turn his head—not one bit! He is quite the kindest and gentlest of all the rat family, and that's more important than being well dressed, isn't it? They say that kindness makes one better looking, and surely they must be right. For Willy Wood-rat has none of that sly, mean look in his face that makes us so afraid of most members of the rat family. He has a nice, good, kind look that just fits with his manners and his pretty clothes.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask?

He lives in it.

But he wouldn't call it a rubbish pile, for it is his nest, and he and Mrs. Wood-rat work very hard to make it just as fine as ever a nest can be. It takes nights and nights of hard work to make that pile. Do you wonder they are proud of it when it is finished?

First they choose the place where the nest is to be. Then they begin collecting twigs and grasses enough to make a pile two or three feet high.

But what has this nice Willy Wood-rat to do with a rubbish pile, you ask? He lives in it

When all that is done, they shape the nest and lay every twig and bit of grass just so, for the Wood-rats are as particular about their nests as they are about their clothes.

Last of all, they line the nest with a soft, downy lining of feathers or the covering of weed seeds till it is as fine and soft as a bird's nest. And then they raise their little family.

You would never guess from the look of the outside that the inside of that rubbish was so soft and beautifully made! Don't you think Willy Wood-rat a nice little fellow to know? And some day you shall hear more about him.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY,

By O-O-McINTYRE.

New York, May 22—At last some use has been found for a full growth of whiskers. Even when they are not parted in the middle. In the past the long beard or lace curtain style of whiskers have been regarded as the home and abiding place of germs, ticks and now and then a field mouse and also certain fauna indigenous to the land in which the owner of whiskers has his habitation.

But now another use has been discovered for the brush that surrounds the face of the care-free citizen who does not care what happens. Read on:

Isaac Goldman, of Bayonne, has a crop of foliage that reaches his waist when he unfurls them to the ozone. Business brought him to New York this last week. He was walking through Avenue C, when he encountered Frank Gallagher.

Gallagher later told his story to a police magistrate: "While I was walking my foot slipped or something; I don't know what. I stuck my hand out in the air to grasp at anything and my fingers closed on a bunch of whiskers. I found later they belonged to Goldman."

The magistrate, if he had a sense of humor, might have inquired: "Did Goldman yell 'Let 'er go Gallagher?'" But he didn't. He fined Goldman ten lovely dollars.

The headwaiter at Joel's, who acts as a savings bank for strolling players, has been left a fortune by the death of an uncle. The latter was a captain in the Austrian army and is said to have bequeathed his nephew $50,000. He will continue to headwait, however, for he says he enjoys nothing so much as watching actors eat. He says a lot of them eat regularly, just like other folk.

Spring Twilight

Singing in the rain, robin?
Rippling out so fast
All thy flutelike notes, as if
This singing were thy last!

After sundown, too, robin?
Though the fields are dim,
And the trees grow dark and still,
Dripping from leaf and limb.

'Tis heart-broken music—
That sweet, faltering strain—
Like a mingled memeory,
Half ecstasy, half pain.

Surely thus to sing, robin,
Thou must have in sight
Beautiful skies behind the shower
And dawn beyond the night.

Would thy faith were mine, robin!
Then, though night were long,
All its silent hours should melt
Their sorrow into song.

PORTSMOUTH'S FIRST INTERURBAN LINE WILL BE "OPENED" TODAY

Business Men Will Go To Wheelersburg On Four Special Cars

This afternoon, at four o'clock, the members of the Business Men's Association and the Board of Trade will formally open the new Ohio Valley Traction line between Wheelersburg and Portsmouth. The management of the company has placed four special cars at the disposal of the members of the two organizations. These cars will carry the members to Wheelersburg, where formal exercises will be held.

The opening of the new traction line between Portsmouth and Wheelersburg marks the beginning of a new era for the whole community. It places the citizens of Wheelersburg within close touch with Portsmouth and gives them frequent freight service for their produce.

Invitations to the members of the two organizations were mailed last week by the committee in charge: J. Arthur Bode, Charles Daehler and R. E. Thomas. Inclosed with the invitation was a small ticket which is to be presented on the car, after being signed by the possessor. The signatures upon the tickets will be used by the secretary to record the names of those who were on the initial trip.

There will be ample room for every member and all are urged to go.

The four cars will go west through the city about three-thirty o'clock, pass around the loop in the West End and stop at the Washington hotel. Promptly at four o'clock the trip to Wheelersburg will start.

Those in charge of the first car will be: J. Arthur Bode and Ben G. Harris; the second car, Charles Daehler and Albert Zoellner; the third car, W. W. Anderson and R. E. Thomas, and the fourth car, Albert Marting and William H. Burt.

The first car, or the pathfinder, will be gaily decorated with banners and posters. The River City band will be given space in this car.

Black and orange felt pennants, with the words, "Portsmouth, Ohio" in large letters will be given to each member.

The following stops will be made by the cars for members of the two associations:

Second and Chillicothe streets.
Fourth and Chillicothe streets.
Sixth and Chillicothe streets.
Ninth and Chillicothe streets.
Ninth and Offnere streets.
Eleventh and Offnere streets.
Eleventh and Lawson streets.
Gallia and Kendall avenue.
New Boston switch.
Norfolk and Western depot, Sciotoville.

At Sciotoville the party will make a detour and parade the streets of the village, headed by the crack River City band. Sciotoville members of the organizations will join the Portsmouth party. The parade will terminate at the piers of the new Chesapeake and Ohio Northern railway bridge, where the party will entrain and then continue to Wheelersburg.

A parade will be formed and will be headed by a few of the Wheelersburg business men. Behind this group will be the River City band, then the members of the business organizations. The school children of the village will form in the rear, but will deploy when Main street is reached, forming a double line, flanking the line of march.

The parade will march south on Main street to the Wheelersburg Methodist church and then countermarch to the Hartman hotel, where a warm luncheon will be served by the ladies of the Wheelersburg churches at a nominal charge.

The address of welcome will be delivered by Prof. E. O. McCowen, county superintendent of schools, and the response will be made by Judge George M. Osborn, this city.

The River City band will give a short concert, then the return trip will be started.

DE WOLF HOPPER AND FAY TINCHER IN "DON QUIXOTE," TRIANGLE-FINE ARTS DRAMA.

De Wolf Hopper In "Don Quixote" Columbia Today

Right on the heels of Billie Burke in "Peggy," as it were, here comes another of the world's greatest stars, De Wolf Hopper in "Don Quixote," Cervante's famous story.

Just as Miss Burke ise the most prominent feminine star yet presented by "Triangle," so is Mr. Hopper the most important male acquisition from the legitimate stage, and just as everybody enjoyed Miss Burke in her interesting portrayal of "Peggy," just so Hopper in "Don Quixote" at the Columbia today.

Mr. Hopper has been before the public with ever increasing popularity for nearly forty years. His "Wang," "El Capitan," "Panjandrum," "The Charletan," "Happyland," and many other of his successes are readily recalled by the last and present generations of theatregoers.

Since the year 1878 De Wolf Hopper has visited practically every community in this country which boasts of an opera house and almost everybody knows De Wolf Hopper.

Dont let anything keep you from seeing Mr. Hopper in "Don Quixote" at the Columbia today. First show this afternoon at 1:30 and the first evening show starting promptly at 6:30 at an admission price of only 10 cents.

At The Arcana

"The Blackmailer" is a one-part Lacmmle drama, featuring Elsie Jane Wilson and Rupert Julian. The wife, who is being persecuted by a blackmailer, arranges a strong alibi and says she intends to kill him, thus regaining her letters. She then laughs at him and shows that the gun is not loaded.

"A Model Husband" is a two reel Victor number. The plot is strong, picturing the exposure of a hypocrital reformer. A picture you should be sure to see. "There's No Place Like Home" is a Rex drama, picturing the experiences of a small boy who runs away from home and returns later in a penitent frame of mind.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN OHIO NEAR WATER WORKS

Encased in a dark coat with a light stripe running through it, a pair of corduroy trousers, a heavy woolen shirt and leather-lined shoes, the badly decomposed body of an unidentified floater was found in the Ohio river Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock.

It was discovered bobbing around on the surface of the water 50 feet from the Ohio shore near the water works plant above New Boston, by William Phillips and his cousin, Earl Phillips. They were towing a shanty boat with a launch when waves of the launch washed up the body. They immediately towed it to shore and Coroner Dr. Walter Daehler was notified. He examined the body and secured the testimony of the two men who found it. In the pockets of the dead man a small mirror, which had been broken, some buttons and a small knife were found. There were no marks on the man's clothing or among his effects that would lead to the identification of the victim.

On March 18 a roustabout named J. R. Ryan was drowned off a boat near Sciotoville, and the body may be that of Ryan. Ryan, it will be recalled, had just returned here from the United States Regular Army. Coroner Daehler stated Monday that he would make a determined effort to learn the identity of the victim. The body was interred Sunday in the burying ground of the county infirmary.

Three Fire Companies Called Out To Fight A West End Stable Fire

A stable belonging to Albert S. Maier, Fifth and Market streets was partially destroyed by fire Saturday evening. The loss was estimated at $500 by Mr. Maer and is fully covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Joseph Frantz and Ralph DeLotell, about 6:30 o'clock and a general alarm was sounded. The Hill-top, the East End and the Seventh street companies responded.

The dense cloud of smoke and the crackling flames soon attracted several hundred people who watched the fight made by the fire companies.

The flames were confined entirely to the upper portion of the structure, which was used to store hay and straw. Before the streams of water were brought to play upon the blaze, it looked as if the building was doomed.

While the fire was raging at its heighth, Samuel Radcliff found a small pony belonging to Pierce Frederick hitched to a stall directly beneath the seething furnace, tugging at its tether. He unfastened the halter and after some difficulty succeeded in leading the animal from the building. This was the only horse in the stable at the time.

Mr. Maier attributes the source of the fire to a spark from a passing train and says that the fire started in the hay loft. From the center it spread in both directions, traversing the entire length of the building.

The roof and upper portion of the structure were destroyed.

The fire was out at 7:56.

SNEAK THIEF IS BUSY IN MASONIC TEMPLE OFFICES

Petty robberies in the Masonic Temple Friday evening and Saturday morning are bothering those who lost articles in the most mysterious way.

Late Friday evening the offices of Drs. Howard Williamson and H. T. Moore were entered and some gold plate valued at $15 was taken. Nothing else was disturbed. There were several hundred dollars worth of instruments and teeth lying about.

Dr. Williamson stated Monday that all of his material is usually stored in an iron safe just after the offices are closed. The office girl, Miss Ethel Hudson, was home sick Friday and the supplies were not locked up.

Saturday morning Miss Mary Pirrung, stenographer at the offices of A. H. Richardson, fourth floor, missed her small black pocketbook, which contained a small amount of money. The purse was lying on the desk and when Miss Pirrung stepped out into the hall for a few moments, it mysteriously disappeared.

About the same time Miss Val Drown, of the C. S. Cadot rental agency, first floor, lost her black leather pocketbook which contained about $12.

Most of those who have offices in the Temple believe that it is the work of a sneak thief who is familiar with the habits of the various offices.

HOME IS ENTERED; BOYS ARRESTED

A trio of West End boys answering to the names of Clarence McCoy, Ed Huston and Rowly Adkins were arrested by Patrolman George Harding Sunday night for breaking into Andrew Payne's home on Market street during the absence of the family.

From what information Patrolman Harding could gather the McCoy boy entered the house and took an alarm clock, several pies and a few pennies. One neighbor thought that two of the boys had been inside of the house. Because of the youthful ages of the boys they were permitted to return home with orders to appear before Mayor H. H. Kaps Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

GOING RAIN OR SHINE

"Rain or shine, we will make the trip to Wheelersburg this afternoon," said R. E. Thomas, secretary of the Business Men's Association and the Board of Trade, Monday. "Should it be raining when we arrive at Wheelersburg, the ladies will serve the luncheon in one of the buildings. But if it clears up, the luncheon will be served on the lawn at the Hartman hotel." The Wheelersburg citizens have made all arrangments for the visitors, and consequently there can be no postponement. The committee also wishes to announce all, not members of the various associations, who desire to make the trip to Wheelersburg in autos, will be welcome.

Dodds, S. D. Eckhart and Harry Sickles. In arranging the programme and details, the committee has endeavored to make this surpass the celebration held last year which was a decided success.

Pratt and will move west to Market street; south on Market to Second street; east on Second to Chillicothe street; north on Chillicothe street to Gallia street, then east on Gallia street to the High School building.

"MOTHER'S DAY" PROGRAM RENDERED

Mother's Day was observed at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday morning. After the close of the Bible school services a very elaborate Mother's Day program was given by the Sunday school pupils in the chapel of the church under the direction of W. W. Gates, superintendent. The chapel was well filled.

Rev. George P. Horst delivered a special sermon for Mother's Day. Rev. Horst's sermon was on "Christ's Ideal Woman." Children's Day will be observed at the Second church on June 11.

"THE FACT THAT A SOLDIER IS ALIVE AND FAIRLY WELL FIFTY YEARS AFTER WAR'S CLOSE IS GOOD CHARACTER CERTIFICATE"

Members of Bailey Post No. 164, G. A. R., were honored guests of George D. Selby's Sunday school class of Bigelow Methodist church Sunday morning.

In welcoming the veterans of the civil war, Mr. Selby said that he was glad to see so many of those who had "recruited in '61" there. He expressed beautiful tribute to those living, when he said that he was sure those present had lived temperate and good lives and had not fallen to the level of the vices that sometimes follow in the wake of an army in their younger days, for if they had done so, they would have not been so well preserved.

Mr. Selby said that it was usually the dissipated and weak that suffered in old age while those who led a temperate life enjoyed the "sunset of life." He added that the fact that a soldier was alive and walking about fifty years after the close of a war was in itself a pretty good certificate of character.

After the lesson had been discussed with considerable interest, the class was formally closed and those of the veterans who were not affiliated with other churches were cordially invited to attend Bigelow church. They were all also asked to attend the morning services.

Upon a motion presented by Comrade W. W. Donaldson, it was decided that the entire Post should attend the church services.

GIRL DRAGGED BY PONY TO A FRIGHTFUL DEATH

Mrs. Homer Frye, of 1113 Eighteenth street, recently received word of the tragic death of her niece, Mildred Haught, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haught, of New Castle, Pa. The litle girl met a horrible death, being killed when her pony ran away.

The girl was driving in the large yard at her home when the pony frightened and ran away, running about the yard several times and down a street for quite a distance. The girl became entangled in the reins and was dragged on the ground. Her head was crushed and her back broken.

Bert Haught is a brother of Mrs. Frye. The terrible accident happened last Monday, and the funeral was held Wednesday. Mrs. Frye was unable to attend the funeral.

More Traffic Rule Violators Are Up Before Mayor Kaps

P. E. Selby, Dan W. Conroy, Tom Brushart, Charles Horr and John Reitz faced Mayor H. H. Kaps Monday morning in answer to complaints filed against them by the fire chief and safety director.

The complaints were to the effect that the above named had driven their automobiles over fire hose at the Albert Maier fire Saturday evening. The parties indulged in pleasantries while in the ante-room before the opening of court. Mr. Conroy accusing Mr. Selby of "bootlegging" in Blackberry alley, while the latter charged Dan was guilty of "shooting craps" in Paradise Alley. While affidavits had been prepared, the mayor did not use them, simply acquainting the accused with the nature of the complaints and reading the law to them.

"I'm not guilty, if your honor, please," pleaded Mr. Conroy. Mr. Horr also pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Conroy contended that by considerable difficult twisting, he had managed to avoid running over the fire hose and said he knew the law too well to be caught attempting any such thing. He asked the names of the court's informants, but the mayor preferred not mentioning them in court.

Mr. Horr proved to be the victim of mistaken identity, for he had put his machine away at 5:30 o'clock and never left the house the remainder of the evening.

Mr. Selby acknowledged his guilt, saying he had driven over the hose thoughtlessly and felt that it did not harm hose to drive over it when the pressure was on.

The others acknowledged their guilt. The mayor classed their act as a technical one, and simply dismissed them with the request that they be more careful in the future.

Frand Jordan, who had been ordered in for driving his machine on the wrong side, as he was going east on Eleventh street, Monday morning, was dismissed with a warning and furnished with a copy of the traffic ordinance. Max Trende has also been ordered in for driving on the wrong side of a street.

Fell On Floor; Breaks Arm

Everett Scott, who fell last Wednesday on the cement floor in the basement of the Second Presbyterian church and fractured his left arm, is improving.

Too Inquisitive.

A young man who has theatrical aspirations loves to boast of his connections with the stage business.

In company with some traveling performers in the lounge of a hotel not long since the young man carelessly observed:

"Oh, yes; I took a show out once."

But the wind was knocked out of his sails when one of the actors asked him:

"Who brought it back?"—Pittsburgh Telegraph.
